WON'T DISCUSS THE SITUATION

WASHINGTON DEPARTMENT OF OFFICIALS SILENT ON ENGLAND'S ATTITUDE.

SEC. BRYAN IS BUSY

SPENDS ENTIRE DAY WORKING ON FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

DIPLOMATS EXPECT NEW POLICY

U. S. Likely to Express Attitude and Procedure Following Date for Mexican Elections.

Washington, Oct. 22.—State department officials today declined to discuss in any way the inquiries made by Ambassador Page in London in respect to Great Britain's attitude in Mexico.

It was evident that in whatever is passing between Great Britain and the United States on the latest phase of the Mexican situation, the utmost secrecy is to be observed. At the white house there was no information available and Secretary Bryan spent the entire day at home working on foreign matters, displayed extreme reticence about the subject.

Diplomats generally were of the opinion that there would be further exchanges of views, but that they were not likely to occur until after October 25, the date set for the Mexican elections. A new expression of policy is expected from the United States immediately after that date.

No developments of importance in the internal situation in Mexico were reported except the arrival at Vera Cruz of General Felix Diaz, which John Lind promptly cabled to the state department without comment.

The dispatch of warships to Mexican waters by France, Germany, Great Britain and Japan brought forth no comment from officials here. It is known that the sending of warships is not regarded by the United States as conflicting in any way with the desire of this government for a free hand in dealing with the Mexican problem.

Diaz Lands.
Vera Cruz, Oct. 22.—Gen. Felix Diaz landed here from the steamship Corcovado without hindrance at 11 o'clock this morning. He was cheered as he came ashore by several hundred people of the working class who had gathered on the quay. He went immediately to his hotel.

JUDGE SWAYNE CRITICISES VERDICT

Port Worth, Oct. 22.—Two hours after a jury in Judge Swayne's court had found W. J. George not guilty of conspiracy to swindle the city on the reservoir work, Judge Swayne discharged another jury with a speech in which he declared the jurors of the county were not doing their duty.

The dismissal of the case against George evicted the county attorney announcing ready in the companion case against Charles H. McCormick, and though Baskin had not looked up the law affecting the case today, Judge Swayne was inclined to the belief it might be necessary to dismiss it. The case will go over to the January term of court, however, to give the county attorney time to look up the law.

The George verdict, which was returned shortly after the jury broke-fast this morning, came as a surprise, as it was understood about evenly divided before breakfast. The verdict was reached by Judge Swayne reached the courthouse, Judge

COLUMN OF CAVALRY IN MOTION IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING NEAR GALVESTON; 3 PRIVATES KILLED

Bolt Hite Wagon Train—Half Dozen Animals Killed and Many Troopers Are Unharned—Are En Route to Target Practice.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 22.—About 1 o'clock this morning a moving column of the Sixth cavalry, United States army, was struck by lightning while en route from Texas City to Galveston. Three privates were instantly killed and several others were more or less severely shocked and may die.

The dead are: Private Monroe, Company E, Private George Morris, Company L, Private John Zimmer, Company L, Morris and Monroe were brothers and were detailed to attend the wagon train.

A half dozen animals were instantly killed, including those ridden by the unfortunate soldiers. The Sixth cavalry was coming to Galveston for target practice when the electric storm was encountered.

The remains of the soldiers will be shipped to their respective homes for burial. Veterinary Surgeon Devine was injured, but not seriously.

Several of the troopers are said to have been unharned, but not otherwise injured. The regiment broke camp early. The lightning struck the wagon train with which the dead men were detailed. Veterinarian Devine saw the accident and rushed to the aid of the men when a second bolt knocked him senseless and he is in the Texas City hospital, but will recover.

The storm followed a heavy wind, which had blown all night.

U. S. NAVY TO "SHOW OFF" TWO DIVISIONS OF ATLANTIC FLEET WILL LEAVE HAMPTON ROADS FOR MEDITERRANEAN

Washington, Oct. 22.—Unusual interest is manifested in official circles in plans for the departure from Hampton Roads Saturday of two divisions of the Atlantic fleet for a cruise to the Mediterranean.

This is to be a courtesy cruise, but it was pointed out here that it will incidentally direct attention to the important fact that American battleships in actual service are prepared to hold their own against any navy afloat, except that of Great Britain, and that, because of its geographical advantages, the United States can dispatch its dreadnaughts 2000 miles from home shores without uneasiness. Final preparations for the cruise are being completed by Rear Admiral Badger, assigned to command the fleet, who had been in touch with Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt will go to Hampton Roads to represent the navy department when the ships depart.

In addition to their crews the battleships will carry 1500 men from the naval training station on the Great Lakes who are now at Norfolk ready to go aboard. Ammunition, coal and supplies are being loaded in great quantities. Naval experts comment on the "American freedom of movement" as compared to the restricted activities of European navies. It is recalled that not long ago Great Britain, with the world's greatest navy, was said to have abandoned a plan for sending a squadron to Australia because of fear that it would endanger her position in Europe.

In volume of fire and number of large guns the experts say the Atlantic fleet is superior to the French navy or the combined fleets of Austria and Italy and in respect to 12-inch guns to the German fleet.

For the Mediterranean trip the nine battleships will be divided into three divisions, commanded by Rear Admirals Cameron, McR Winslow, Frank Fletcher and Frank E. Beatty. Commander Charles F. Hughes will be chief of staff to Rear Admiral Badger.

EFFORTS ARE TO REACH LOPEZE

Rescued Miners at Rockdale Are Recuperating Rapidly—Work Now to Reach Lost Victim.

Rockdale, Tex., Oct. 22.—Spl.—The rescued miners are recuperating rapidly. The rescue work has been started at another point, hoping that George Lopez may also be alive. The force drilling the air shaft expect to put it through by midnight. The pumps have reduced the water now two inches below the roof of the entry and the men expect to be able to make it tomorrow and make a search.

To Abolish Grade Crossings

Houston, Oct. 22.—The appalling list of casualties at grade crossings in this city in recent years has aroused Mayor Campbell and the city commissioners to the necessity for their abolishment and it is announced that a special committee will be named to devise means by which this can be brought about. It is said there are 100 such within the city limits.

over. Swayne said nothing to those jurors, but after the next case had been decided, read the riot act about them to the next jury.

He pointed out the fact that not one witness had been called by the defense to disprove the state's testimony and pointed to the possibility of a second Johnstown flood from the reservoir here in future years.

"We have over here a reservoir case that has just been tried," he said. "A jury has returned a verdict of not guilty. And the evidence showed beyond any kind of doubt that every man who was left out there on the work by the board of engineers to pass on the quality of material that went into the dam and to pass on the work was also in the employ of the contractor."

"It is an outrage and a shame that such things as that are allowed in a civilized community. I am going to discharge you now in the very face of the fact that you have another case which in all probability will have to be dismissed on account of the acquittal in that case."

EXPLOSION ENTOMBS OVER 200 MINERS AT DAWSON, N. M.

General Superintendent and Americans Are in Tunnel; Reports Uncertain of Possibility of Rescue; Five Are Taken Out.

Denver, Oct. 22.—Between 230 and 250 miners were entombed by an explosion in Mine No. 2 of the Stag Canon Fuel company at Dawson, N. M., at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The entombed men included General Superintendent Frank McDermott of the mine and several American miners. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Meager advices received up to 9:45 tonight were that only five miners had been taken alive from the upper level. These reports stated that most of the men on the day shift were employed below the second level, where the shaft was blocked with debris resulting from the explosion.

Accounts from Dawson and Raton were uncertain as to the possibility of rescuing any of the men alive, while a statement from El Paso, Tex., expressed hope that most of the entombed men would be found alive. This belief was based upon the fact that the workings of No. 2 mine are connected by a tunnel with Mine No. 3, while an air shaft is said to furnish another means of exit.

Immediate relief work was under-taken by men from the night shift and neighboring mines, while appeals for aid started scores of experienced miners from Trinidad and the surrounding coal companies to Dawson.

J. C. Roberts, superintendent of federal miners on the stations in the Rocky mountain division, left for Dawson tonight with the rescue car. He also telegraphed Pittsburg, Kan., and Rock Springs, Wyo., for the rescue cars stationed at those points.

Five Brought Out Alive

Dawson, N. M., Oct. 22.—By 10 o'clock tonight the rescuers had penetrated more than 100 feet into the mouth of the mines and reached five of the entombed miners, who were alive. They had suffered much from the gas and were in no condition to talk.

Immediately on being brought to the surface the men were given into the care of physicians, many of whom arrived here from nearby towns. It is believed the explosion occurred on a slope deep within the mine. From the rescuers have found since digging within the debris it is believed the air supply is plentiful, as the air has improved as the rescuers progress farther toward the center of the mine.

Mayor Kinney of this city has organized a relief camp at the mine, where rescuers are being cared for and where miners who are taken out will be given medical assistance, if needed. The mayor declared that it would be impossible to make any conjecture concerning the possible loss of life. He said the mine was so congested with men that the least possible danger from such explosions.

According to Mayor Kinney, the cause of the explosion has not been learned. It may not be known until the miners now entombed half a mile from the entrance have been reached. So far none of the imprisoned men has been able to approach the air shaft or any of the workings within the mine which would provide a means of exit through another shaft, and that fact leads to the belief that all have been cut off from every means of exit.

Air Supply Chief Concern.
The air supply is the chief concern of the rescuers, who believe they will be able to reach the interior of the mine by tomorrow night at the latest. In the relief camps near the entrance of Mine No. 2 are gathered the wives and children of the entombed men. They are cheered by the knowledge that Superintendent McDermott and seven other Americans are among the main body of imprisoned miners, because they have confidence in the superintendent's resourcefulness.

Relief parties from nearby towns are constantly arriving and by tomorrow morning the number in Dawson will be well into the hundreds, all equipped with the latest apparatus for mine rescue work. Tonight the rescue work is continuous. As one group of workers is driven back for air another takes its place. That system is to be continued until the last of the men known to have been caught in the explosion shall have been found.

UNEARTH SMUGGLING

WILLIAM LEVY ARRESTED AT CLEVELAND, MAY SHOW UP OPERATIONS.

Federal Officers Say Thousands of Dollars' Worth of Jewelry Brought Into United States.

Cleveland, Oct. 22.—The arrest of William Levy late today on a charge of smuggling watches, watch cases and works into the United States from Canada, customs officials here believe will lead to unearthing the operations of a large band of jewelry smugglers. Federal officials say thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry on which no duty has been paid was brought from Toronto wholesale firm into the United States in the past year.

It is said the jewelry was shipped here and disposed of in stores which make a practice of holding "auction sales."

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of a number of others on the same charge and also on the charge of fraud in selling jewelry.

Levy was held under $5,000 bond for a preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner Monday. Jewelry amounting to $60,000 was seized this afternoon by the officers. At several jewelry stores which are suspected of having received alleged smuggled goods $50,000 worth was card away. At the Levy's store the value of the jewelry secured by the authorities is $10,000.

U. S. Marshal Arrests Woman

Pawhuska, Okla., Oct. 22.—Mrs. George Lamont was arrested here tonight by United States Marshal W. J. Cade of Guthrie upon a warrant following an indictment by the federal grand jury at Lawton, Okla. Mrs. Lamont says she believes the indictment is based upon the alleged forgery of the name of R. E. Fletcher, an Osage county claimant, to a grazing lease upon Indian lands. Mrs. Lamont signed the name, she says, but expressly as Fletcher's agent. United States Marshal Cade while here served eight other warrants against L. J. Leach, John Palmer, former Chief of Bacon Hind of the Osages and others, charging conspiracy against the department of the interior.

The management of the two papers will be in charge of Mr. Shaffer, general manager, and Kent Shaffer, son of J. C. Shaffer, treasurer.

Lynch Is Labor Commissioner

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The senate tonight unanimously confirmed Governor Glynn's nomination of James M. Lynch of Syracuse, president of the International Typographical union, as state labor commissioner.

The senate twice rejected Governor Sulzer's nomination of John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, for the position. After the second rejection Governor Sulzer nominated Lynch. The nomination was never reported from the senate finance committee in order to withhold minor appointments in the department from Sulzer.

TERRIFIC RAIN BEGINS EARLY IN DAY—CONTINUES AT NIGHT

PEOPLE ARE LEAVING

BOATS GO ABOUT IN THE MAIN STREETS—LOSSES HEAVY.

BUSINESS HOUSES ARE CLOSED

Street Cars Unable to Run—Basements Flooded—No Wind and Danger is Not Great.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 22.—As the result of terrific rains which began here early this morning the entire city tonight is under water and the rain is still falling in torrents. At an early hour this afternoon practically every business house in the city and all commercial institutions closed in order that owners and employees alike might go home.

Street car traffic has been tied up since noon and boats are seen going about the streets. In many of the business establishments the water has risen to a depth of eight inches at 4 o'clock and at 8 tonight it was still higher. Many of the residents left the city early in the afternoon, but the more conservative remained.

From the weather bureau comes the report that the rainfall during the day was ten inches.

This is greater than for years and is causing much uneasiness among the inhabitants.

There has been no indications of wind, and it is thought that the rain will cease before great damage is done. No estimate has been made as to damage already done, but it will reach thousands of dollars.

Episcopal Convention Puts Off Matter of Bishop for Southern Negroes Three Years.

New York, Oct. 22.—The general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church postponed today for three years action on the question of giving the negroes of the South a bishop to represent them directly in the house of bishops.

Majority and minority reports from the committee on racial Episcopate in the house of deputies approving and opposing the proposal came before the convention. Neither report adopted.

The entire problem was referred by viva voce vote to a joint commission of deputies and bishops, which will report to the general convention in 1916.

The committee will consist of five bishops, five presbyters and five laymen.

In a series of speeches in the Sixth assembly district, where he is the candidate on the progressive ticket, he attacked Charles F. Murphy and the court of impeachment which removed him from the office of governor. The meeting halls he visited could not hold all who wished to hear him and he made addresses in the streets.

Both defendants stoutly maintain their innocence. The Christian case is on appeal.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked, and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching, and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of fuss. While wispy, gray, faded hair is so sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.

ARRAIGNS THE ANTI-TRUST LAW

PRESIDENT VAN HISE OF WIS-CONSIN UNIVERSITY IN STRONG CRITICISM.

CAUSES APPALLING WASTE

Does Not Propose to Repeal Sherman Law, but Wants Amendments.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—Dr. Charles R. Van Hise, president of the University of Wisconsin, arraigned the Sherman anti-trust law tonight as the one agency more responsible than any other for appalling waste in mining and consequent grand larceny from future generations of a portion of the inheritance of natural resources. To propose the repeal of the Sherman law, Dr. Van Hise asserted, would be chimerical at the present time, but it should be amended so that under its provisions co-operation would be permitted. Unrestrained competition, he added, meant appalling waste; and waste was positively opposed to the policy of conservation. When the Sherman law was passed, he said, the wheels, so far as co-operation was concerned, were immediately turned back to the conditions of the middle ages. To remedy the evil, he continued, an Interstate Trade commission should be fashioned with broad powers like those of the Interstate Commerce commission, to regulate co-operation in industry. Monopoly should be prohibited, but business men should be permitted to fix prices, divide territory and curtail output within reasonable limits. Dr. Van Hise said, in part:

Says Hinder Conservation.

"There can be no question that the competitive system, when unrestrained, is positively opposed to the policy of conservation. The wastefulness of the competitive system may be proved with regard to every product which is taken from the earth. But the most disastrous losses in mining as far as the future of the human race is concerned are in connection with coal. Director Holmes of the United States Bureau of Mines says that at the present time not more than 50 per cent of the anthracite reaches the surface. The situation is nearly similar for bituminous coal. Holmes estimates that since the beginning of mining in the United States 2,000,000,000 tons of anthracite and 3,000,000,000 tons of bituminous coal have been left underground in such condition as to make its future recovery doubtful or impossible.

"Under the Sherman act there is no opportunity to limit output, divide territory or regulate prices. Five thousand bituminous operators could produce two hundred million tons of coal per annum beyond present demand. If the operators could agree upon limitation on output, and division of market so as to reduce freights, and could arrange for reasonable prices which would give them no more than their present profit, they would then be able to follow these principles in mining their coal. Under the competitive system we are recklessly skimming the cream of the natural resources of a virgin continent with no regard for the rights of our children or our children's children.

"My proposal to remedy these conditions is neither regulated competition, nor regulated monopoly, but retention of competition, prohibition of monopoly, permission of monopoly, permission of co-operation, and regulation of the latter. At the present time there are state and national movements to extend still further the advantages of co-operation to the farmers. We shall, I believe, ultimately permit co-operation in all lines of business alike. If we, however, retain freedom of competition, permit concentration sufficient to give efficiency, allow reasonable co-operation and prevent monopoly, this will require regulation just as it has been necessary to regulate the railroads.

"This done, the Sherman law will be forgot. Has there been any prosecution of the railroads for violations of the Sherman law because of collusion in fixing rates? And yet, every one knows that they are just as flagrant violators of the Sherman act as any other class of corporations in the United States. Are the freight rates the same for different roads between any two points? Are the passenger rates between Philadelphia and Chicago identical on all roads? The rate is the same providing the speed is the same. How does it happen that the roads all get together? Just by Providence, I suppose.

"The railroads are just as amenable to attack under the Sherman act as any other combination in the United States, but when the railroads are giving reasonable rates and are competing in giving service—even if the law is on the statute book and is the hallowed thing that has been described—the sense of official justice is such that they are not attacked in the courts.

Technical Violations Common.
"However, it is a wrong condition when we have on the statute book a law of a kind which requires the officials of justice to close one eye whenever they pass by the men in control of one great group of industries, and at the same moment see other men not one whit more guilty. We ought to remedy this condition so that the honorable business men shall not be in a position, the unfortunate position, of being technically violators of statutes which it is not advantageous from the public point of view to enforce.

"In regard to the Sherman act, it has been assumed that its only violators are the great combinations. The steel trust, the tobacco trust and a few large other combinations are mentioned, and it is supposed that the small business man and the small producers are not acting in violation of the law. Does it make any difference here in Philadelphia, the home of the anthracite, whether one buys anthracite of one retail dealer or another? It doesn't make any difference in the country crossroads either. The price is just the same from all dealers in the same locality.

"The same is true of all standard articles. The principle of co-operation extended from the great manufacturers and the great dealers of the large cities to the small manufacturers and small dealers of the small cities and even the villages. All are co-operating in the same way; the principle is the same for the large and the small man; one is violating the law just as certainly as the other."

Business Session.
A resolution offered by Sidney Norman of Washington was adopted at this afternoon's session, the motion picture stockholders, by making directors more definitely responsible for their welfare and constituting infraction of such laws as felony, punishable by imprisonment. The resolution recently disclosed regarding securities listed on the New York stock exchange to the end that the officers be brought to justice. Copies of the resolutions will be forwarded to President Wilson, the attorney general and the New York Stock Exchange.

"He urged the sale of these lands to citizens or to corporations for $400 an acre. The senator also attacked the former chief forester for having urged the government through former Secretary of the Interior Garfield, to revoke forty permits for water plants in Colorado. He said men in Colorado had spent from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 in developing them.

"The water rights," the senator declared, "belong to the state, which should have a right in all lands not used for federal purposes."

The time has come for a revision of the law to bring them up to date, according to Dr. James Douglas of New York, whose paper was read at today's session. Dr. Douglas asserted that while land laws were liberal, it was only under such laws that the country could have been developed.

Dr. George Otis Smith, director of the United States geological survey, said the essential of mining legislation should be that no provision in the law should place any unnecessary charge, burden or operating cost upon the operator. Dr. Smith said he favored the leasing law rather than the present method of selling government coal lands at an appraised valuation.

Marlin, Tex., Oct. 22.—Rev. W. W. Watts, former pastor of the Methodist church at Marlin, is here this week in the interest of the Southern Methodist university at Dallas. Dr. Watts is state commissioner for that institution and reports rapid progress in the work of raising $500,000 for the medical department of the university. He says the school will open in September, 1914, with more than $1,000,000 worth of buildings completed. This includes the main building, two dormitories and library, also heating plant. Dr. Watts reports the raising of $125,000 in the campaign for the university.

Ladies and Also Men With Vitalitas
Complexions—Use of Earth
Fluid.

"Vitalitas" complexions are to be seen on the streets of most every town and city in the state of Texas. These complexions are not "canned" products and there is nothing else like them except the bloom of Nature itself. All the beauty doctors and all cosmetics in the world can not duplicate them. They tell of rich blood, of steady nerves and of proper digestion. One of the marvelous things about this new complexion is that it is being worn by many who were invalids; who for years were emaciated, anemic and who suffered with rheumatism, indigestion or some chronic kidney or liver disease. In Vitalitas they not only found relief but a return to rosy health.

Vitalitas is Nature's greatest curative force, it cleanses and revitalizes the system, attacks disease and impotent issues throughout the body and begins the work of correction. Many of the most stubborn diseases that defy medical skill are swept away by Vitalitas. Cures are constantly being reported where all earthly hope had been abandoned. Shaken Up.

Dallas, Oct. 22.—Two persons were injured and several others shaken up when Swiss avenue car No. 234 ran into the rear end of a Fair Park car at the corner of Main and Murphy streets about 11 o'clock this morning. Helen Miller, an aged negro, was sitting in the rear seat of the Swiss car, and was thrown violently forward by the shock of the impact, striking the seat in front of her. She was taken to the emergency hospital in a private automobile, where she was examined. It is not thought that she is seriously injured. She was later taken home.

Haynes of the state fire insurance commission arrived in Austin today after a three weeks' trip through eastern cities inspecting fire apparatus, prevention methods, compilation and gathering of data and such other examinations as might be required serviceable to the state commission.

According to the Texas men the department of commerce and labor did not have a greater amount of data of fires, etc., than did the Texas commission.

ALL EVIDENCE IN AGAINST WOMAN

PROSECUTION ENDS IN CASE AGAINST MRS. EATON FOR MURDER.

LETTERS FIGURE PROMINENTLY

Defendant Makes Statement Regarding Admiral's Alleged Habit of Dabbling with Poisons.

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 22.—The evidence with which the prosecution expects to convict Mrs. Jennie May Eaton of murder in connection with the death of her husband, Rear Admiral Jos. G. Eaton, was practically concluded today when the government rested its case.

Most of the evidence today dealt with statements said to have been made by the defendant in letters and conversation regarding the admiral's alleged habit of dabbling with poisons and his alleged susceptibility where women were concerned.

The last witness, Ralph P. Keyes, husband of Mrs. Eaton's older daughter, June, testified that he once heard Mrs. Eaton tell his wife that the admiral had put away more than one hundred men on his ship at one time by means of poison. Keyes said the particular conversation referred to took place on the night of Wednesday, March 5, three days before the admiral's death. According to the witness, Mrs. Eaton came to his home in Medford to see June on that Wednesday and was told the latter had left for Assinippi to visit her mother. Mrs. Eaton remained in Medford until June returned home that night. In the conversation which ensued between the mother and daughter, Keyes testified that he heard June say she had just had a talk with the admiral in Assinippi and he told her he was going to Europe soon. June also said, according to her husband's testimony, that the admiral asked her whether she cared if her mother and her husband were put out of the way.

"I'll have to go down and look after him," was Mrs. Eaton's comment in reply to June's story as Keyes heard it.

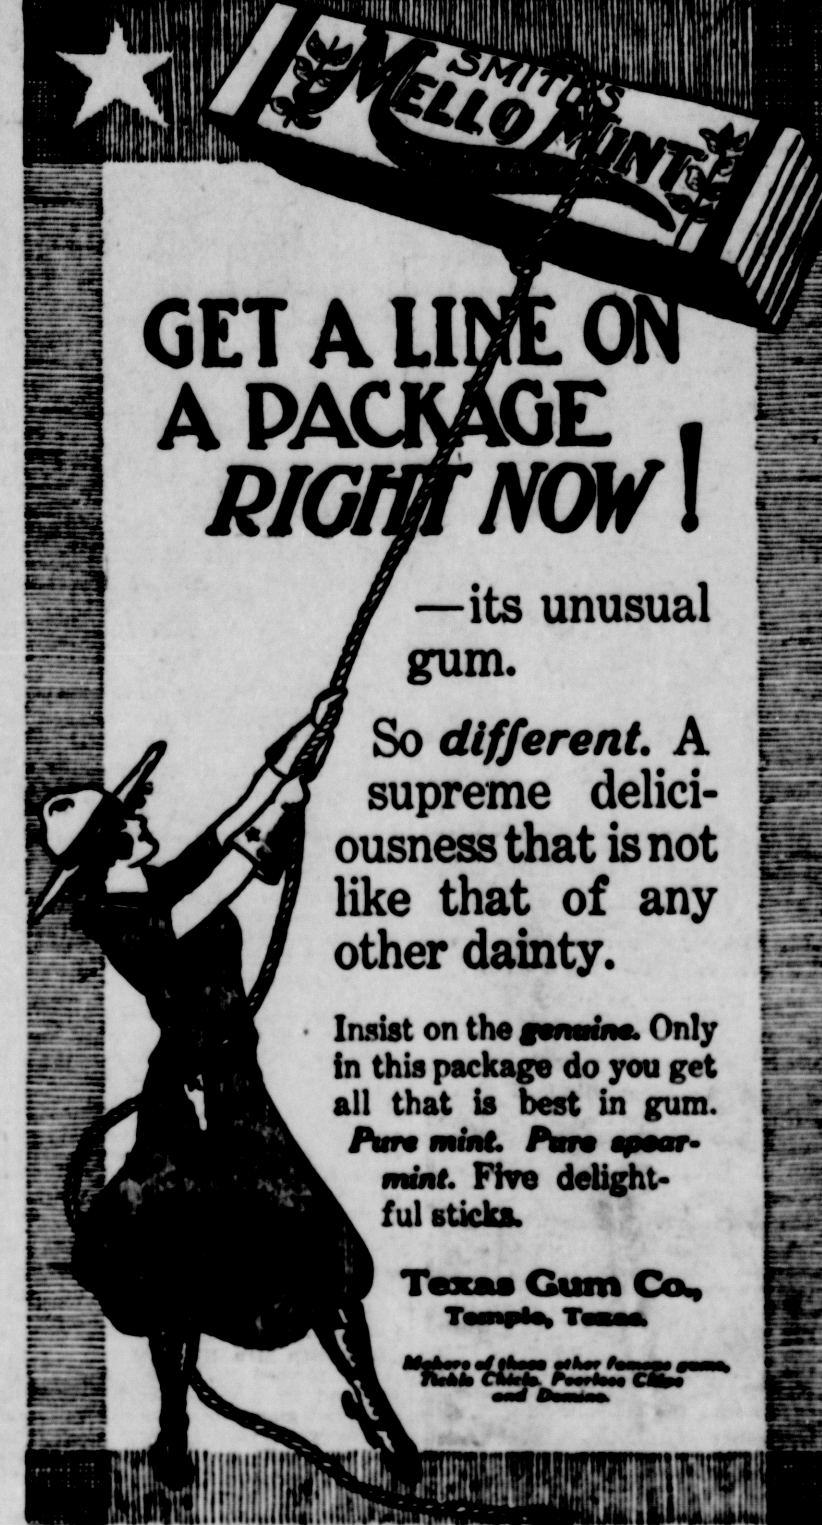

Mrs. Eaton Goes to Assinippi.

Keyes testified that Mrs. Eaton went to Assinippi the next morning. The admiral died on the following Saturday morning. The prosecution contends that the first dose of poison was given the admiral on Thursday.

Keyes further said that Mrs. Eaton declared the admiral punctured her arm with hypodermic needles while she slept and that one of her front teeth was loose because the admiral had injected something into her jaw.

On cross-examination, Keyes said he had heard Mrs. Eaton make such remarks as these frequently and not merely on the one occasion mentioned, just before the admiral's death.

The district attorney's attempt to ask questions about the parentage of a child adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Keros was frustrated by Chief Justice Aiken, who declined to allow the witness to answer.

At the conclusion of the testimony the prosecution introduced several exhibits, among them the will of Admiral Eaton. This gives the bulk of his property to Mrs. Eaton. In the event of her death, everything is to go to her young daughter, Dorothy, with the exception of a bequest of $5,000 to June Keyes.

A number of letters alleged to have been written by Mrs. Eaton at various times in which the admiral was pictured as an insane man with a mania for poisoning were read by the prosecution.

Good Roads for Keros.

Marlin, Tex., Oct. 21.—J. R. Lockard of Keros, in Marlin today, reports work in progress on road building east of that place. Sand is being scraped out and clay put on the roadbed. On top of this is sprinkled a coat of sand, which he claims makes a good serviceable road. The merchants of Keros are constructing four miles of this kind of road through a deep sand section of the county.

LANE SAYS WILL NOT ATTEND

Claims Purpose of Prohibition Primary at Dallas to Eliminate Him as Candidate.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 22.—"Why should I attend the prohibition primary at Dallas? I never intended to take an active part, but I am now firmly convinced that the only object of such primary is to eliminate me. I will not abide by any action of the primary, therefore I do not care to take the time to attend the meeting."

This was what Comptroller Lane said today with reference to the cancellation of his plans for attending the Dallas prohibition conference.

Rumors to the effect that the elimination of Mr. Lane from the race and the boosting of Cullen Thomas have reached here.

"I was under the impression in the first place that the conference was to be called for other purposes, but the handwriting on the wall would throw a different light on the matter now," he added.

Under the direction of Mrs. Elvira Stuart Hobbs, a musical program will be given at Rosenthal Methodist church on Saturday evening, Oct. 25, for the benefit of the Ladies' Missionary society of Morrow street church.

CRANFORDS COME TOGETHER WITH MISS ISABEL EDMOND
Only two from among the many Cranfords were absent from the session with Miss Isabel Edmond, who was the first hostess of the incoming season. The fancy work, small talk, and refreshment plate, the usual program for the Cranfords, was observed. No change will be made in the membership. It was decided not to meet again until after the Cotton Palace distraction.

MRS. M'ASHAN CARD HOSTESS FOR NEW BRIDGE CLUB
The members of the Young Married Ladies' Bridge club played their last game with Mrs. S. M. McAshan. Four tables formed the succession of play, and in waiting were two pretty little cut glass bottles for toilet water. These were won by Mrs. J. M. McCutchan and by Mrs. Harold Shear. The next game will be played with Mrs. James Riley. Mrs. McAshan had sent only for the hands of absent members.

THE COLONIAL BRIDGE WITH MRS. KILLINGSWORTH
One of the cozy little games came with Mrs. W. E. Killingsworth as hostess to the Colonial Bridge club. Nothing beyond the accustomed game occurred except that Mrs. Charles Anderson was the substitute for the hostess. The prizes were taken by Mrs. Chapman, Mrs. Anderson, and Mrs. Killingsworth. The game for the coming week will be played with Mrs. Edwin Jurney.

MR. AND MRS. J. C. LATTIMORE TO HAVE ANNUAL AT HOME

Lattimore welcome by invitations this large number for a social courtesy as well as for the opportunity for the teachers of the various schools to come into closer acquaintance. A few very special invitations have been included by Mr. and Mrs. Lattimore for this event, which is their yearly hospitality.

EVENING ENTERTAINMENT. REHEARSING FOR WOMAN'S DAY
With the Mesdames Ludwell Williams, W. J. Lincoln, Howard Williams and Miss Emma Beer, abetted in every way by Mrs. Babb as general chairman, the rehearsals for the evening entertainment for Woman's day program are progressing nicely. Society girls and matrons, talented women, and some men by strict suffrage will be on the program. This program is a profound secret except that it will give clever vaudeville stunts. About fifty will participate.

A BRIDE IN BELTON INTERESTS WACO FRIENDS
Cards came from Belton in the Tuesday post which announce the marriage on Monday of Miss Emily

Frazier, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jacob Moore Frazier. The groom is Roland A. Muenster of Austin. Mr. and Mrs. Muenster have enjoyed a few days in San Antonio, and are about to day reaching their home in Austin. This bride by an unusually large family connection in Waco, together with her frequent visits here, is almost a Wacoan by adoption, hence wide local interest in her marriage.

THE ARTS AND CRAFTS HAS GREAT PROMISE
Mrs. W. E. Spell has been sufficiently interested in her booth for the Cotton Palace as to go out in personal search for articles which women are making by hand. She has been very successful. In San Antonio and in Austin there have been promises of some very interesting pieces. This means jewelry, brass, wood carving, weaving and various other ornamental articles made by woman's hand. Mrs. Spell left for Dallas last night, where she hopes to pick up some real treasures from the woman's department at the fair.

MRS. MAUD TRIPLETT HAS GIRLS' SHAKSPERE CLUB
In Corsicana, Mrs. Maud Triplett has returned to the study of her first love, the plays of Shakspeare. Mrs. Triplett was for several years in the Waco Shakspeare club, where she absorbed a love of the Immortal Bard which the years of her absence seems not to have weakened. Now she has her pleasant and profitable winter pastime, a class of girls in Corsicana who will study the plays under Mrs. Triplett's direction. This is something well worth the mention for a young girl trained to the poetic thoughts and the wholesome observations on human nature is enriched both in vocabulary and in understanding of the human heart.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE DAY IS TODAY IN DALLAS
As vice president, acting as president, of the Woman's Suffrage association of Texas, Mrs. W. E. Spell is in Dallas, presiding over suffrage day, which is holding today. Texas has so far come forward as ninth in the number of the suffragists. The women who are promoting this interest urge all who are inclined towards suffrage to so declare openly, so that Texas, if she so desires, may rise higher towards number one. Miss Eleanor Brackenridge, the state president, is just returned home to San Antonio from her cruise to Panama and up to New York City. She is still unable to take active direction of the suffrage work, so Mrs. Spell is acting president.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. ALBERT WELLS
Although this is the first regular session for the Woman's club, in its new year, the members were down to serious study. The papers as called for in the study program were given by Miss Grace Fraher, with the Mesdames Llewellyn Aubrey, W. O. Wilkes and William Brewster. In the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. W. E. Darden Mrs. J. D. Willis was elected a new member. Owing to her recent bereavement, Mrs. H. B. Mottist will not be with the club for a while. Mrs. W. O. Wilkes as chairman for the woman's parade reported that she, with her assistants, the Mesdames Charles Boynton and J. W. Hale, had decided to have the club represented by a float which will personify three of the fine arts. Mrs. Albert Wells was the hostess. Mrs. W. E. Anderson of El Paso, and Miss Bernice Young were guests.

SOME NOTABLE WOMEN INVITED FOR WOMAN'S DAY
Miss Kate Friend is chairman of invitation for special women to be in the city on Woman's day. These invitations will include all presidents of state organizations, whose special endeavor will be represented in the woman's pageant of Waco activity. Mrs. Philip N. Moore, former national president of the club women, will be in Texas for November the tenth. She has been importuned to make it convenient to reach Waco by the eighth. Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker, present general president, is also invited. Mrs. Governor Colquitt is invited; so are the Mesdames Harry Hyman of San Antonio, president of the Texas

Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Hutchison of Fort Worth, president of the Mothers' congress, Mrs. Nannie Webb Curtis of Waco, president of the Women's Christian Temperance union; Mrs. J. E. Jackson of Austin, president of the Texas Woman's Press association. The president of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. H. B. Mottist, will be in San Antonio next week. As soon as the vote is announced she will be invited for Waco. In addition, the president of the Colonial Dames from Dallas, Mrs. Henry Hall, president-elect of the Texas club women, Mrs. Eli Hertzberg, president of the Texas club women; the state president of the Lady Macabees, and of the Daughters of Rebekeh, will be included. Mrs. W. E. Spell, acting president of the Texas suffrage society is of Waco. From this list, undoubtedly some will make it convenient to be guests upon the review stand in the Cotton Palace grounds. It now behooves the women of Waco to make their creditable contribution to the president of each division is an onlooker, we must all do our organization, our state and our Cotton Palace proud.

Society Notes.
Miss Lily Gregory, who spent last winter with Mrs. M. H. H. Park, writes from Mississippi that her visit will be repeated. She arrives in time for the Cotton Palace.

Owing to a delayed train and consequent misconnection from Georgia, Miss Lucile Mayfield had the unexpected pleasure of a day in Memphis. A delayed arrival brought Mrs. C. C. Wright from Dallas on Wednesday. She is the guest of Mrs. Lovelace, also of Mrs. Mattie D. Willis. Later Mrs. Willis will include with Mrs. Wright her sister, Mrs. A. M. Walker, from Bryan; the Mesdames Murrill Buckner and Martin from Dallas as a Cotton Palace house party.

Among the old home friends who will return to enjoy the Cotton Palace will be Mrs. J. W. Bondurant, president of the Waco chapter of the woman's parade.

How many women will see that the park space in front of their Columbus street home is made presentable before the Cotton Palace guests arrive. Did you know that if your rooms have low ceilings, to use verticle stripes in window hangings and wall paper will give the effect of height? This is something worth remembering.

A woman from Bartlett writes to inquire what is newer for a ring bearer. They wedding their golden casket carried in the heart of a flower? Can any one suggest? Really, we think nothing more appropriate than to use the floral patron of the wedding, and bury the ring therein. If a chrysanthemum wedding carry the ring in a single blossom, if a rose wedding, let it be buried in a tiny silver box of rose petals, and so on.

Mrs. Nathan Naman now expects to become matron of her handsome new home with the new year.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg Waddill arrived on Wednesday from Galveston. They brought their former home friends the pleasing surprise that they return to reside in Waco. At present they are guests of Mrs. Waddill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Keith, twenty and Columbus. Later, they will begin housekeeping.

The W. R. Clifton home is closed until the first of November. Dr. and Mrs. Clifton are in Dallas.

Among those who came for the funeral of C. J. Glover were the Mesdames Russell from Hillsboro, Raymon from Austin, McKean from Austin, Jenkins from Bastrop, Hughes and Uphaw from Belton.

Mrs. Albert Clifton will matronize the Ackard cottage on North Fifteenth street during the Cotton Palace. In the Mesdames and Mr. Clifton continue in the W. D. Lacy household on Washington street.

Really, Mrs. Newlywed, it is not good form to acknowledge your wedding invitations with "Mrs." affixed to your signature. No married woman ever affixes the "Mrs." Only in business correspondence does it occur at all, and then it is proper to sign one's personal name, adding in the lower left-hand corner, "Mrs. J. A." which gives the husband's initials as a hint for addressing the reply letter.

Now comes the men to say that not one woman in the hundreds knows how to manage her horse or the wheel of her car. Suppose we get busy and learn how to steer within the crowd? Waco is becoming too congested for us to continue these careless driving habits.

By the way, you have the prize baby, have you entered it with the Baby Show manager in your district? The date for the marriage in Corsicana of Miss Rose Nelson to Mr. Hume of West Virginia has been changed from the fifth to the twelfth of November.

Society Personals.
Mrs. James G. Roles of San Antonio will be the Cotton Palace guest of Mrs. Lee R. Davis, Lasker avenue.

Miss Celia Blumenthal of Syracuse, New York, is arrived to be the winter guest in the Naman household on North Fifteenth street.

Mrs. Fred Robinson of Street Place is at home from Dallas.

Mrs. F. J. Lennox and Mrs. Ruth Lennox of Twelfth and Barron are in Dallas for a few days.

Mrs. W. E. Spell is returned from San Antonio and Austin, to go to Dallas for today.

Among the recent arrivals at home from the East has been that of Mrs. Marie Holway, West Washington.

Miss Vivien Mayfield who has visited in St. Louis on her way home from Europe is now due at home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Morrison who were called to Alvin by the death of the former's sister reach home today.

Mrs. T. H. Killingsworth is in from Gateville and leaves this morning for a visit to Dallas. She will enjoy the Cotton Palace as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Ross, on Gorman avenue, before returning home to Oklahoma.

Mrs. N. E. Boggess is in Dallas, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Offa Boggess.

Mrs. Womack of Hutto is expected to enjoy the Cotton Palace as the guest of Mrs. H. C. Black, Seventh and Columbus.

Cotton Market Active.
New York, Oct. 22.—Cotton was active and excited again today, with December contracts selling above 14 cents for the first time this season, or fully $1.70 per bale above yesterday's closing and $3.70 per bale above the low level of last summer.

This big advance followed the sharp reaction which resulted from realizing on the publication of frost news yesterday. There was much less loss for cotton for sale today, while fresh buying was evidently inspired by reports that the wintry weather in the south had justified a further reduction in new crop estimates and apprehension that the firmness of Liverpool foreshadowed a more active demand from foreign spinners.

To provide against false alarms an inventor has suggested a fire alarm box that locks a handcuff on the wrist of a person using it, removable only by a fire department officer.

The Home Beauty Parlor
by Betty Dean

Itta Lee: "The young man was rude, but it is a fact that he has been to see his women friends with evidence of having too recently 'primmed.' Ordinary face powder does show plainly, and the average man objects to it. My suggestion to you would be to use spumax. It is a liquid lotion with all the advantages of face powder and none of the artificial objections. It will not show or rub off and never looks 'streaked.' Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spumax and dissolve it in 2 pint hot water. Add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This will make a liberal supply of lotion which will protect your skin as well as beautify your complexion."

Georgene: "I always advise against the use of soap for shampooing the hair. I'm glad you know its dangers. Canthrox is my stand-by for a shampoo and I'm sure it will be yours after this trial. It is a very simple preparation, and so efficient a wash that it will not show or rub off and never looks 'streaked.' Get from your druggist 4 ounces of spumax and dissolve it in 2 pint hot water. Add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This will make a liberal supply of lotion which will protect your skin as well as beautify your complexion."

Joyce: "The use of rouge to give you color is something I am too old-fashioned to approve. Try first this simple, inexpensive tonic. I think it will build up your system and bring natural color to your face. Dissolve an ounce of kar-dene in half a pint of alcohol, add one-half cup of sugar and enough hot water to make a full quart; take a tablespoonful before each meal. It will purify the blood, tone the nerves, besides relieving your pallor and improving the complexion."

Mrs. M. L.: "Those dark rings under your eyes do not necessarily indicate serious trouble. You probably strained your eyes and they are suffering from overwork. Here is a fine tonic. Get an ounce of crystals, dissolve it in a pint of water and drop a few drops in each eye twice daily. It will not smart, is very soothing and is certain to remove the annoying and swelling. Add a dash of glycerine. For a good system tonic see answer to Joyce."

Grace: "Your throat to wear a wig sounds funny nowadays, when with a little care nobody needs to have thin or falling tresses. There is no better hair tonic known to science than you can make at home by dissolving an ounce of quinine in half a pint of alcohol and then adding half a pint of cold water. The use of this tonic is agreeable and pleasant. It will not make hair become sticky or greasy and is the best known help to prevent premature graying or loss of hair. For a good shampoo see answer to Georgene."

Primrose: "The right weight for a woman of five feet four is 112 pounds. You cannot with ease or grace carry more—especially nowadays when the styles demand slenderness. But don't risk excessive exercising or strict dieting—they will bring down your strength. Try parrotis. Get 4 ounces of this old, reliable remedy at your drug store. Dissolve it in 1 1/2 pints water and take a tablespoonful before meals. I have advised this often with excellent results."

Blue Bell: "It is never any trouble to me to answer questions about the skin and complexion. It is a hobby with me that a woman need not be lined prematurely or lose her beauty. Here is one of the finest things I know of to remove wrinkles and make the skin velvety, soft and smooth. Stir one ounce almond in half a pint of cold water; add two teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let it stand a few hours and apply freely. It is matchless for massage and reducing the pores. Avoid greasy cold creams."

Daily Fashion Suggestion

A delightful gown for evening wear, made with a skirt of satin and blouse of chiffon, with a lace vest and satin facings. The skirt has two flounces, which are easily removed, if desired. Four yards of 36-inch satin will be needed for the skirt and 2 yards of 44-inch chiffon for the waist.

Waist sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 bust measure; skirt sizes, 21, 23, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 waist.

DALLAS MECHANIC FORCED TO QUIT

Tells of His Experience With Plant Juice for the Benefit of Others.

Frank Watkins, who lives at 2000 1/2 Magnolia street, in Dallas, was forced to quit work on account of muscular rheumatism. The following is a brief statement from him that may be of benefit to others.

"Muscular rheumatism at last got me down and out and I was forced to quit my work. I am 46 years old and have lived in Dallas for 14 years, and will know just how bad I was before I started taking Plant Juice. It is a grand remedy and has done me more good than all the other remedies that I have ever tried. The swelling and pains have left me and I am again able to work. I do not think there is anything to equal it for rheumatism and tonic effects."

Plant Juice is the grandest vegetable solvent of uric acid known to science. It clears the blood of this insidious poison which escapes from weak kidneys and brings relief from all kinds of rheumatism. Catarrhal and malarial conditions are quickly remedied by it and it is the greatest tonic, corrective and curative of the age, for all derangements of the stomach, kidneys, liver and blood. Get a bottle today and give it a trial. For sale at The Old Corner Drug Store.

MRS. PANKHURST'S ATTACK AND DR. SHAW'S CONSISTENCY.

After a slight official flurry at Ellis Island and in Washington and such indignant commotion among a few suffragist women in New York we have with us Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. The Pankhurst is described by her friends of the press and the cause as a modest, refined, gentle-natured, intellectual woman who—and she admits it—is driven to violent methods by her consecration and devotion to the cause of equal rights for women, and by her realization that "nothing was ever got from English parliaments except through violence." So Mrs. Pankhurst initiates her American experiences by an attack on the parliament. She wants laws against "white slavery," for example, against industrial evils and conditions having direct bearing on the rights and mode of living, of women. And she avows that these laws may be obtained only through "dynamic means."

Doubtless the public will be as willing to believe that England's great government is reluctant to control as far as it can the dangers that beset the health and morals of its people as it is willing to believe that acid in postboxes, dynamite for private residences, mutilation of historic structures of the kingdom, incendiarism for the property of official and private non-sympathizers, indiscriminate smashing of windows and blows for men are indispensable features of these "dynamic means." The public's belief to this end may be prompted the more readily by its view of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, head of the National Women's Suffrage association, before the Just Government league in Baltimore and its hearing of her senseless statement that if smashing mail boxes would get the ballot for American women why, then, she, Dr. Shaw, would go out and smash 'em. In the same breath Dr. Shaw deprecated the Pankhurst's methods "chiefly on the grounds of expediency." She said, and said rightly, that the behavior of Mrs. Pankhurst had worked much injury to the cause in England and in America; it is a wretched example and a detrimental, we have often pointed out. And the American leader went on to praise the Pankhurst's "consecration and devotion."

We waste no time speculating on the chance that the English woman may convince the American people that the government of her country should be overthrown, the institutions, the private and public property, the relics and historic landmarks, the treasures, the persons of the governors of her country attacked, injured or destroyed by reason of the withholding of what may even be a right. By her doings and the rioting and vandalism of her running mates at home she has set back the cause almost irrevocably; in this country she has given a very bad impression to those men and women who might otherwise be convinced by the more reasonable American suffragists' appeal to reason. Unlike the better method in this land, she and hers have been unwilling to accept compromise, gradual approaches to the goal she would reach through female ruffianism, from those in power.

But Mrs. Pankhurst's essays in this country, police and government regulated, can do the cause no more harm. It was the violence that hurt. Nor can such incongruous, ambiguous, inconsistent utterances as that by Dr. Shaw Tuesday help the cause in the tiniest degree.

TEXAS INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS AT THE FAIR.

The Texas Industrial Congress, in order to meet its friends at the State fair at Dallas, has taken a booth in the agricultural building and invites them to call there and register. It has installed a model to show the effects of surface washes on hillside farms. Two hillsides are represented—one upon which a cover crop is growing, the other bare, with a lake at the foot of each. On the hillside with the cover crop the run-off of water is small and the lake at the foot is clear; on the bare hillside the run-off is heavy and muddy, and the lake is also muddy—showing that in one case there is little or no loss of soil while in the other the farm is being stripped of its power to grow crops and the farmer of his chance to prosper. Thus the lesson is taught that sloping lands should not be left bare to the winter rains; but should be planted to barley, oats, wheat or other crops that will save the soil. The suggestion is also made that reservoirs can and should be constructed to impound the water for farm use—for stock and for irrigation.

Maps and pictures showing in a graphic way the work of the congress have a place in the booth, and a representative is present to welcome visitors, explain the model, distribute farm bulletins and show all who call every courtesy possible.

REFORM IN SCHOOL HYGIENE METHODS.

In the committee report that deals with the section of the program of the International Congress on School Hygiene, held in Buffalo, devoted to papers and discussions calling attention to the urgent need of extending medical inspection throughout the individual communities of the United States, it is stated that this need of reform is based on the findings made by recent medical inspection in schools, which show:

That of all pupils 26 per cent suffer from eye strain.

That 6 to 12 per cent suffer from enlarged tonsils.

That 12 to 24 per cent suffer from nasal obstruction.

That 2 to 5 per cent suffer from defective hearing.

That 50 to 75 per cent suffer from decayed teeth.

That 10 to 30 per cent suffer from nervous disorders.

That 5 to 20 per cent suffer from some deformity.

That 1 to 15 per cent suffer from skin diseases.

That 1 to 67 per cent suffer from pediculosis of the scalp.

"Laws providing for medical inspection are needed, because experience has demonstrated that efficient medical inspection betters health conditions among school children, safeguards them from disease, and renders them healthier, happier and more vigorous."

"Every such law should make provision for frequent inspections of children by duly qualified school physicians to detect and exclude cases of contagious disease," continues the report. "It should provide for examination of all the children by school doctors, to detect any physical defects which may prevent the children from receiving the full benefit of their school work, or which may require that the work be modified to avoid injury to the child. It should empower school physicians to conduct examinations of teachers and janitors, and make regular inspections of buildings, premises, and drinking water, to insure their sanitary conditions. School nurses should be provided for in each law, because they are the most valuable adjunct of medical inspection, and the most efficient possible link between the schools and the homes."

"The bane of the 'safety' movement."

Mr. Marcus A. Dow, general safety agent of the New York Central lines, quotes some appalling figures in the Outlook while discussing the problem of trespassers on railroad property and the fatalities resulting from their trespass. He recites that in the year ending June 30, 1912, the number killed was 5284 and the mortality to trespassers in the last 20 years has been 86,735, besides 94,646 wounded. This is as bad a record as that of the Balkan wars. One thing Mr. Dow seems unable to understand. He puts it this way: "If 100 passengers were killed in railway accidents in this country each week, the continued recurrence of such slaughter would be a topic of continual concern, the public would be up in arms, widespread investigation and legislative enactments would prevail to put an end to it all, yes, even if the weekly total were one-half, or one-quarter of that number. And yet the nation goes placidly along discussing eugenics and health laws without number, and hardly a thought is given to the 5284 trespassers killed in the single year ending June 30, 1912, and the continued killing day after day, year in and year out, that needs only a nation's attention to eliminate."

"The explanation is not as difficult as Mr. Dow seems to think," says Detroit Free Press, commenting on these figures. "In the case of passengers, the railroad assumes a definite responsibility and engages to deliver its patrons at their destination in safety. In the case of the trespasser, it is the old problem of the fool and his folly, and public sympathy and interest are not easily aroused. We do not mean by this that the appeal which Mr. Dow makes for help should be slighted or ignored. A large percentage of the victims of their own carelessness are children who should be restrained by their elders until they have arrived at what are presumably years of discretion. And as there are laws which punish the would-be suicide, we agree with the writer in the Outlook, there should be laws inflicting punishment on the careless trespasser on railroad property. Leaving children out of consideration for the moment, if the adult victims have no regard for their lives they should at least be held in check for the benefit of their families, in the interest of the nervous systems of members of the general public who are less reckless, and particularly for the benefit of already sufficiently harried train crews. And yet what deterrent effect will a prospective fine or term in prison have on a person who dances along the railroad tracks and dares death to come on and do his worst? Isn't his place in the insane asylum rather than in the penitentiary?"

THE CANAL AND A "WORLD POLICY."

The Chicago Tribune, commenting on the overthrow of the last barrier in the Panama canal, discusses "another breach—a breach of good manners and social obligation, to put it in its least 'practical' terms." The coincidence is significant. It points a moral for the pondering of the American people.

The United States has spent, or will have, when all is done, $375,000,000 on the canal. The purpose of this expenditure is not primarily altruistic. It is not merely to bring the Atlantic seaboard in touch with the Pacific. It is also to bring the United States nearer to South America.

"But while we are spending money to create a new tie, a tie of peace and mutual profit between us and our Southern neighbors, we are building up barriers of hostility and distrust," says the Tribune. "We build a bridge and make it impassable for ourselves. We open a safe and let others pass through while we stand stupidly by. Our leaders in politics, our leaders in commerce, our press and our public men show little appreciation of what the Panama canal means to us and to the world. It should be made, in fact, the corner stone of our international policy. It cannot be until we have a policy. What is done by Hay and Root is undone by Knox. What we painfully erect, we childishly tear down. But the time has gone by when the United States can afford these inconsistencies. We have been swept into the world current. We must develop our foreign trade and our foreign relations. We have need of broader thought and more consistent and persistent action. We have need of a world policy."

"Speedy end to hazing."

Chancellor F. A. Hall of Washington University, has taken a decided stand against hazing. Hazing of all kinds is gradually giving way before public sentiment and has been about stamped out at West Point. The St. Louis Times endorses Chancellor Hall's position, saying:

Chancellor Hall of Washington University, is out with an "ultimatum" to the effect that hazing in the institution must be stopped.

We are hopeful that the chancellor has the full courage of his convictions, and that he will not be denied support in a thoroughly commendable decision.

There is an opportunity for some great institution of learning to establish an enviable record by eliminating the hoodlum in the student body to such an extent that it will be recognized as "the university that has abolished hazing."

If the practice by which the older students fall upon the fledglings and subject them to various forms of humiliation were simply silly, there would be sufficient reason for its discontinuance. But when to mere silliness there is added a degree of danger which results in the loss of life somewhere among the institutions of learning every year, it may easily be seen to be the imperative duty of those in authority to usher in a new era in student-day recreations.

The youth of college going age has an almost benumbing amount to learn before he can be classed as a genuine human being. But there is little hope of ever getting him over the pons asinorum of mental acquisition, unless he can be sharply brought to understand that rowdiness isn't funny or pleasing to any class of people save rowdies.

The students of Washington University have not been conspicuous offenders in this respect, compared with certain other student-bodies; but we may fairly hope to see them conspicuous elsewhere. For this reason we wish Chancellor Hall complete success in the campaign he is said to have launched.

In the days gone by hazing was regarded as an established institution. It often took on forms of intense brutality as illustrated in Tom Brown's School Days at Rugby. In those times beer drinking was also a part of the school course but all of this is changing with higher enlightenment.

THE PITH OF THE CURRENCY MEASURE.

Among the illuminating articles concerning the real scope, application and probable results of the currency bill that Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, an author of the measure, is contributing to magazines and the press, his answer to suggestions and discussion by the New York World is especially striking. "The present banking and currency bill, in my judgment, will be of gigantic benefit to the commerce and industry of the country, giving conditions of stability such as the United States has never enjoyed, preventing the possibility of panic, promoting a uniform low rate of interest and serving equally well the people of the country and the banks themselves," he says. Senator Owen advises:

The bill provides first for concentrating bank reserves and making them mobile and available for the uses of our commerce and industry, thus turning into a valuable asset reserves which are now lying dead and necessarily unavailable by statute law for credit purposes. It provides elastic currency against commercial bills and furnishes a certain place of discount at all times for every member bank, and at a uniformly low rate of interest.

The reserve banks will be able to do this by mobilizing 450 millions of idle reserves, by making use of 200 millions of idle government funds and by also having the right to issue elastic currency, safeguarded against inflation and automatically contracting and expanding, according to the actual needs of commerce.

It provides a rediscount market large enough and strong enough, conducted upon a public utility basis, to protect adequately the commercial, manufacturing and industrial interests of the nation.

It extends these privileges to State banks and trust companies as well as national banks.

It provides a clearing house for individual checks, an important economic saving, which increases the velocity of current checks.

It provides for limited farm land loans against investment deposits, which will not impair the commercial character of the national banking system and which will give a market for long-term farm land mortgages under safeguards.

It provides for foreign branch banks, greatly needed for the foreign commerce of the United States.

It will give the member banks more liberal profits than they have heretofore enjoyed, greater privileges in the way of rediscounts and a greater opportunity to obtain cash upon their reserves than they have ever had.

The only thing about the bill which is offensive to some of the bankers is that it provides for government control. The federal reserve banks being public utility banks, and not being run for mere money making, but solely for the purpose of protecting the stability of the commerce and finance of the nation and promoting the general welfare, the friends of this bill will not relinquish in any degree whatever the right of government control over these public utility banks.

The public utility bank to the German empire, the Reichsbank, and the Bank of France are managed by directors exclusively by the governments of Germany and France, and the bankers are not permitted to control the Bank of England, which is also a public utility bank, serving the commerce of the British empire.

The experience of the world is against giving private persons control in any degree of a great public function of this character.

PURE FOOD IN THE COUNTRY.

"Half of the people of the United States live where there is practically no effort on the part of the public authorities to prevent the sale and use of unsafe and fraudulent food of such kinds as milk, fresh meat from nearby sources of supply, fish, vegetables and fruit," says the Cleveland Leader.

"Nor is there any adequate official safeguarding of this half of the people against impure and unsafe water. The assumption seems to be that such functions of government are not necessary in the country and in small towns. There is no local official to look after the public health and the States appear to take it for granted that nothing of the kind is necessary. The theory is, of course, that only the great centers of population are exposed to the perils of bad food, tainted water and like sources of disease. This is one of the old defects in American government methods which must be corrected. It is a survival of outworn conditions. The country can no longer take for granted the security of small communities in respect to sources of infectious and contagious disease. It has long ceased to be possible to satisfy the public conscience by letting individuals make their homes as dangerous as they please to the health of the neighborhood, and the same rule forbids the toleration of pestilential conditions in any village, hamlet or rural community which may be indifferent to its own peril or ignorant of any means of escape from its burden of needless disease and death."

It should be said to the credit of Mr. Abbott, commissioner of the Texas food and drugs department, that he has conducted his own inspections, and sent his assistants to investigate, in the smaller communities in several sections of the State as frequently as the department's resources will permit. Dairies—especially for the presence of diseased cattle—slaughter houses and, in some places, even the shops have come in for the department's attention. It is obvious that the indifferent or the ignorant supplier of food in the small town cannot and will not give as much heed to the demands of the pure food statutes as the city shopkeeper, who is visited at least twice a year by the State inspectors, must give. Nor is there in rural districts the incentive to selling clean food and keeping clean shop that is supplied by the fear of losing custom attending the activity of women's clubs in some cities, in upholding the food and drugs acts. But Texas cities, as well as its rural places, must take their chances on the honesty and intelligence of those who supply human food until cities and counties are brought to realize that the public health should come in for as much "protection" as other physical safety considerations and private property. With this understanding achieved, there will be relatively as generous provision of funds for State and local food inspection as there is for the enforcement of other laws by police and as there is for fire departments to save property. There may even be more conscientious enforcement of the pure food statutes than the enforcement that can be obtained under the present handicap of politics in the offices of some public prosecutors.

It is expected that much good in the way of publicity for Waco and the Cotton Palace will result from today's "booster" trip to Dallas of the delegation and special train arranged for by the Y. M. B. L. directors. All Texas and much of the Southwest are represented in the crowds that are in Dallas for the splendid State Fair, and this distinct, legitimate form of advertising "the South's most unique exposition" is rightly timed. Waco and its big annual exposition should be made known to thousands who may have been strangers heretofore to the city and the Palace. It may not be said that the fullest advantage in former years has been taken of this striking opportunity to invite Texas to the Texas Cotton Palace that is afforded by the vast concourse in a neighbor city, whose hospitality to the State immediately precedes Waco's hospitality. So to all to whom these lines may come early on the morning of this publicity and recreation excursion, we would suggest that they cannot take a needed "day off" in a better cause.

Texas Viewpoints.

Bring Forth the Magic Carpet!

"Mr. and Mrs. J. Benjamin Mattingly request the honor of (your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Clotilde, to Mr. Austin Cunningham Wednesday evening the twelfth of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen at eight o'clock, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Washington, D. C." At the first announcement of this joyous coming event Viewpoints knew only pleasure. This latest kindly summons, however, produces a feeling not without grief. Viewpoints' bread-and-butter task, alas! is not of the otium cum dignitate variety. His countless readers must be edified and the State saved daily. Washington is many miles away and the antipass law we have with us always. This to happen to Austin Cunningham and Viewpoints not there to see and hear is "most saddening. He must turn to Shahrazad for comfort, mental; anyone in these late days of spiritualistic supernaturalism may possess a magic carpet. Viewpoints in spirit will be very much in St. Stephen's, Washington, a score of nights hence and his good wishes, all of them, already have gone before."

May the S. T. G. J. Grow.

Number 18, Volume 1 "Introduces the Southern Texas Truck Growers' Journal (San Antonio) as an independent publication, owned and edited by Chester T. Crowell." We note from the cover and Mr. Crowell's leaders that the publication is now "devoted to the interest of Southern Texas truck growers." He considers that "lack of interest on the part of the membership has already dissolved the Southern Texas Truck Growers' Association beyond the possibility of change on the part of the officers or directors." The elimination of this organization may be regrettable. Mr. Crowell's decision to continue the journal as an independent publication in the interests of truck growers of that section to supply needs of the growers that become more pressing without such an association, is praiseworthy. We think there is distinct place for such a publication; knowing Crowell's capabilities, we do not fear for its future. Needless to add—though we add it—we hope to see the Journal and Chester prosper independently, and independently.

The Lesson of the Rain.

"Since the rain the work of paving and of building sidewalks has been resumed and will be rushed rapidly while the good weather lasts," glad tidings the Denison Herald. "There is much of this work contracted for and it is to be hoped it will be completed before winter fairly begins." We take it that, "since the rain" in this connection is chronologic report merely, not a notation of cause and effect in the matter of street paving and sidewalk laying. But sometimes we find ourselves wishing that after each heavy rain in Texas the sun did not appear so soon and so hotly. Then the duration of sloughs that are unpaved streets and the mire that are sidewalkless residences might be longer in some communities. The rain carries a strong lesson of the necessity of lifting city and country from the mud, but in some places that lesson is not yet quite powerful enough to overcome indifference, selfishness and old-fogeyism.

"Ardent Admiration" is Right.

San Antonio Light presents an editorial, "Wilson and Bryan," with this:

"Mackey Park" is a very tidy compliment to his honor and sounds a deal better than "East Waco Park." The city has not so many public parks that it can afford to neglect the opportunity to honor its public men that is afforded by the naming of these places that give the public pleasure.

Water for Pendleton.

Stock Company Formed—Will Dig Artesian Well.

Pendleton, Tex., Oct. 22.—A stock company with a capitalization of $4000 is being organized here with W. W. Littlefield as president and a number of well known business men for the purpose of sinking an artesian well and thereby gaining a water supply for this village. The town has outgrown the natural sources of supply, such as wells and cisterns, and the drought that prevailed during the summer months caused most of the latter to dry up and it was necessary to operate a water train from Temple over the Santa Fe.

Bellevue School Board Meets.

Belton, Tex., Oct. 22.—The Belton County Board of Education held a session here today with all members present, including W. E. Spivey, Kilbuck, T. R. Russell, Salado, J. R. Marshall, Heldenberger, Leslie Elliott, Temple, and County Superintendent J. S. Morgan.

Applications were received and considered from sixty-three young men and women between the ages of seventeen and twenty-one for transfers to districts in which county high school work is conducted. All applications were granted where proper credentials were filed to show that the applicants were entitled to such consideration. It was shown at the meeting today that the appropriation of state school funds to Belton county this year will amount to $36,625.

Temple Tailors Organize.

Temple, Tex., Oct. 22.—The Journeymen Tailors Union of America now has a branch in Temple, No. 430, as the result of a meeting held here last night. W. F. Sanders was elected president; Chas. Miescherhans, vice-president; M. Hudgins, secretary; Harry Shanklin, recorder; R. E. Nesbitt, treasurer, and Jesse Chambers, guide. The Central Trades Council for a whole family. The branch hall on Second street for a labor temple and all organized labor bodies of the city will use same as a meeting place hereafter.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Coughs Eased, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/4 pint of warm water, and stir 3 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps ease a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualonic and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The most ardent admirers of William Jennings Bryan will not venture to claim that he has, as yet, made a brilliant success of his task as secretary of State.

In some things he has not shown the high degree of tact to be expected from a man gifted in large measures with the qualifications of a diplomat. For all that, however, the majority of the American people will cordially side with him and will approve all he has done in relation to Henry Lane Wilson, late ambassador of the United States to Mexico.

We think the majority of the American people would approve anything in the nature of getting rid of him as a public servant that anyone in the government might contrive against Henry Lane Wilson, in view of Henry's performances since Madero was snuffed out and Huerta appeared on the scene. It needed no great man and resourceful diplomat to gauge rightly the public mind with respect to the ambassador's behavior and mouthings. But, apropos the Light's introduction, evidently the Light has not seen some of the printed tributes to Mr. Bryan's prowess as a s. of s. by his "ardent admirers" that we have seen.

WATER FOR PENDLETON.

Stock Company Formed—Will Dig Artesian Well.

Pendleton, Tex., Oct. 22.—A stock company with a capitalization of $4000 is being organized here with W. W. Littlefield as president and a number of well known business men for the purpose of sinking an artesian well and thereby gaining a water supply for this village. The town has outgrown the natural sources of supply, such as wells and cisterns, and the drought that prevailed during the summer months caused most of the latter to dry up and it was necessary to operate a water train from Temple over the Santa Fe.

This Home-Made Cough Syrup Will Surprise You

Coughs Eased, but there is Nothing Better at any Price. Fully Guaranteed.

Here is a home-made remedy that takes hold of a cough almost instantly, and will usually conquer an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This recipe makes a pint—enough for a whole family. You couldn't buy as much or as good ready-made cough syrup for $2.50.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/4 pint of warm water, and stir 3 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. This keeps perfectly and has a pleasant taste—children like it. Braces up the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps ease a cough.

You probably know the medical value of pine in treating bronchial asthma, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and whooping cough. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in gualonic and other natural healing pine elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this inexpensive remedy have made friends for it in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

REDFIELD SERVES EMPLOYEES NOTICE

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE DECLARES ANNOUNCED INTENTION NOT ABANDONED.

WILL PROBE WAGE REDUCTION

Where Cut Is Made Under Plea That New Tariff Compels Retrenchment.

Flint, Mich., Oct. 22.—Notice was served on employers of labor tonight by Secretary Redfield of the department of commerce that he had not abandoned his intention under certain conditions to investigate general reductions of wages under the plea that the new tariff compelled retrenchment. The secretary voiced his views in an address before the Flint board of commerce.

"When it was suggested some months ago," he said, "that the inquiry powers of the department might under certain conditions be used to learn whether conditions in any general industry were such as to justify a reduction of wages when alleged to be made because of tariff changes, there appeared very general comments on the alleged action, which comments were chiefly remarkable for their vigor in dealing with an assumed state of facts which did not exist. An attitude of courteous candor, which was not for a moment misunderstood by the gentlemen who were directly concerned, was so altered in the telling of it as to put the department in the position of menacing individuals and establishments with hostile intrusion, if excuse could be found for so doing."

"When the direful results which prophesies of evil foretold did not occur the facile imaginations of some editors led them to the secretary of commerce had withdrawn from his attitude. The secretary of commerce has done no such thing. He accepts no responsibility for the vagarious remarks they would have had him say and which they would like to criticize. The views expressed in the address, because of which all the dust arose, have not been changed and the action that was suggested in that address will be taken if the circumstances suggest therein should arise and seem to make it necessary."

Department Will Not Be Bluffed. "Meanwhile the department will not be 'bluffed' by those who wish it to enter into action which would have for the sole basis of its existence the hope of some that it might make a mistake." The secretary declared that the threats of reduction in wages as a result of the Underwood tariff law had become few of late. That he attributed directly to the declaration of the administration that it would act promptly where such threats were carried out.

The fact that powers exist," he said, "in hands that will use them if, and only if, general and sufficient cause shall appear for such use and will then use them conservatively and considerately if at all, seems to have had a sobering effect upon those who would make the wages of the laborer a fulcrum on which to poise their political arguments."

Investigation of public utilities corporations, said the secretary, was a line of inquiry his department proposed to begin. The inquiry would be made by the bureau of standards and it would be conducted in a spirit of entire friendliness and with the object in view of aiding both the corporations themselves and the public utilities commissions of the states and cities. Congress is to be asked to appropriate $100,000 to begin the work. "This fund," explained Mr. Redfield, "would be used to enable the bureau of standards to carry on such investigations as would fix standards of service for public utility companies that would assist the public service commissioners of the states and cities and other authorities in regulating the control of these utilities. There is no sound reason or idea that in this connection the bureau of standards would exercise any legal authority whatever; no more so than it does in its other scientific standardizing work."

There is, however, a wide field for the activities of this scientific bureau in carrying on and publishing investigations of a purely technical character for the purpose of establishing standards and methods that may be adopted generally by state and municipal commissions. Uniformity of process and of requirements is greatly needed and without some co-ordinating agency which is impartial and disinterested it is hard, if not impracticable, to secure such uniformity.

Two parties, one a city, or a state, the other a public service company, may disagree. Who is to be the arbitrator? You say the court, but the question is a technical one and upon what standard of technical knowledge and inquiry will the court base its action? It is of the greatest importance that all state and municipal commissions should possess full technical information in regard to utilities which they are required to regulate in order that they may act intelligently and justly as between utilities companies and the public. If the public is to have a square deal there must be just as good information in the hands of the public service commissions as there is in the hands of the public service companies."

T. Coleman du Pont Who Will Develop Colorado Radium Mines

The announcement of T. Coleman du Pont that he will develop what are believed to be radium mines in Colorado has interested her citizens. Mr. du Pont is head of the largest powder company in the world. He is the backer of the great building project on the site of the burned Equitable structure in New York. H. G. Thofner, a radium expert of Paris, who is in Denver as the representative of Mr. du Pont, said: "Mr. du Pont intends to produce radium and by-products for philanthropic purposes only, and will put the material in reach of all the people. Colorado stands a chance of producing a large part of the world's supply. In fact, it is actually one of the main producers now."

"I have seen at the shaft house of the German Beldier mine at Central City more than 140 tons of high grade pitchblende ore. This mine, with the Wood mine and others, has been bought by Mr. du Pont. He intends to build a plant to produce radium close to his mines."

MATERIALISM FAILS

REV. NEMEHIAH BOYNTON OF BROOKLYN OPTIMISTIC CONCERNING CHRISTIANITY.

Retiring Moderator Addresses National Council of Congregational Churches at Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 22.—A distinct tone of optimism as to the present state of Christianity rang through the address of the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., who, as retiring moderator of the organization, addressed the National Council of Congregational churches here tonight. "All efforts to install the materialistic idea of the universe fail by their own weight," he said. "Every theory of the universe needs a God to make it workable. Mankind is still incurably religious, and the instinct of religion, never more than today, asks its brave questions, claims its unfulfilled hopes and initiates its aspiring adventures."

"Every intelligent man knows the changed point of view regarding knowledge of the recent years. The scientific spirit greatly has enlarged the area of our religious facts. The historical spirit has set in new relationships the facts which were once in the world of yesterday, while the modern study of the Bible has given the Book of Ages a new and firmer setting in the heart of the living present."

Whether one welcomes these changes or not they are here and no great realization before they are generally acknowledged today than to define her attitude toward modern truth with sympathy and with courage. There is a conservatism which is to be respected. It is in form intelligent, but reluctant. It insists that positions shall be fully earned before they are generally allowed. Such conservatism has always been of real assistance. Every chariot, even the chariot of the Lord, needs brakes, but there is a conservatism which is reactionary, obscurantist, prides itself about not changing its position and holding fast to positions of yesterday despite the assured conclusions of the intelligence of today, and that kind of conservatism is as uncongregational as it is unavailing."

"Congregationalism has few more serious concerns than those which gather about her ministry. In our inability to supply our churches with men trained in our own seminaries and beneath our Christian ideas, we are supplying some of our churches with men whose devotion and piety are worthy of all commendation, but whose lack of thorough training makes the safeguarding of our high ideals of Christian duty and privilege difficult, if not problematical."

"It need hardly be said that the pitifully small average salary which a congregational minister receives makes the living conditions of many not only humble, which is to be expected, but crumbly and persistently unrighteous. The movement which this council will make for an honorable recognition of the dignity of ministerial service is one which should arouse our interest in this respect amongst Congregationalists."

WILLIAM H. MURRAY, MEMBER OF OKLAHOMA CONGRESS, DESCRIBES GRAFT.

Says Full Bloods Chief Objects of Grabbers in Paper Before "Friends of Indians."

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The methods of those who prey upon the land-owning Indians of Oklahoma were described and means to circumvent them were recommended, by William H. Murray, member of congress from Oklahoma, in a paper read today before the Lake Mohonk Conference of Friends of the Indians and Other Dependents. The secretary of the organization in session, Mr. Murray was president of the Oklahoma constitutional convention and the first speaker of the house of representatives of the new state.

His first suggestion was that restrictions should be removed from all adults of the so-called Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma, who have less than three-quarters Indian blood. "Restricted" Indians, he explained, were those who had some restriction upon the transfer of any portion of their allotments or homesteads. Such restrictions apply only to land and run with its title and do not affect the person of the owner since the Oklahoma Indian enjoys the privileges of the ballot and is in every other way classed as a citizen under the state constitution. The federal laws now provide restrictions upon all Indians of more than half-blood.

The full-blooded Indians, said Mr. Murray, are the chief objects of attack by land grabbers, who although unable to make much headway in acquiring title by contracts to becloud the title in such a way that in the event of the removal of restrictions they would be almost the only possible purchasers. "There is one land copartnership," he said, "which is said to control by lease at least 250,000 acres in the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nations, the lands mostly of restricted Indians."

The greatest injustice, he went on, is endured by Indian minors, who are robbed of their inheritances by land grabbers, often working in collusion with probate judges. "It is enough to make of such Indian child," he declared, "an anardibet, while it surely will make paupers of them all. Let the doors be closed against the sale of any minor's land unless he dies."

All honest men in Oklahoma, said Mr. Murray, and the Indians themselves, oppose the reopening of the tribal rolls which would admit to participation in tribal estate person not entitled to such division. He quoted from the Democratic platform of 1912, which said:

"We are opposed to the taking by the government of the Indian trust funds amounting to millions of dollars in paying salaries and expenses of federal office holders and departmental appointees—after agreeing by solemn treaty pledges to pay such expenses by the federal government."

"This is the view," he added, "of practically everybody in our state."

"Robin Hood" Coming.
Some of the most popular grand operas, comic operas and even plays have been based on fairy stories and legends, and this is almost the entire inspiration for the Christmas pantomimes in London.
The Wagner operas are the most famous, and those of other composers are often legends. "Peter Pan," which dealt with fairies, was the greatest play J. M. Barrie ever wrote and one of the current successes of the New York season last year was "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."
To come down to the light operas which have been founded on stories, the most notable is "Robin Hood," the tale of the derring-do outlaw of Sherwood forest, which is preserved as one of the traditions of England. De Koven and Smith also based "Rob Roy" on a legend, and "Don Quixote" on another. Then in the past decade we have had "Cinderella," "Puss in Boots," "Mother Goose," "Simple Simon," "The Wizard of Oz," which was based on modern fairy stories, and "Babes in Toyland," which dealt with many of the Mother Goose characters.
After De Koven and Smith had written "Don Quixote" and "The Begum" for the Bostonians, they were casting about for another opera, and one day were looking over some picture story books of Robin Hood and his men. This struck them as a good theme and they immediately planned their work. On the night of the first performance of "Don Quixote" they submitted their scenario in Barnabee's dressing room and contracts were signed. De Koven began work on the score on January 2, 1896, and the music was finished in three months, Smith sending him the book act by act.
The opera was given 4250 performances by the Bostonians alone.

Story of "Ready Money."
William A. Brady Ltd. will present for the first time in this city the world-wide success, "Ready Money." It tells a story of a poor young man and a rich young girl, who become engaged much against the wishes of the rich mother of the girl, and affords a lesson in encouragement that cannot fail to make an impression on its beholders. The play contains four separate and distinct love stories, each delightfully worked out and lending the spirit of romance to the comedy.
Manager Brady has provided a company of unusual excellence to interpret the comedy, which includes Corbett Morris, John M. Kline, Frederick Webber, Bruce Elmore, Robert Toms, Mary Sullivan, Mae Keese, Ruth Farmer, Marjorie Conroy and fifteen others.

CIRCLE A GINGER ALE

EXPERTS TO AID IN CURRENCY

EACH AMENDMENT WILL BE SUBMITTED TO SOME PERSON COMPETENT TO JUDGE.

HAWAIIAN BANKER IN PROTEST

Says Proposed Bill Will Affect Adversely Banking on Islands. Makes Request.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Plans for securing the aid of experts to frame proposed amendments to the administration currency bill were made today by the senate banking and currency committee. Hearings on the bill will be closed formally Saturday and then consideration of amendments will begin. Other witnesses whom the committee wishes to hear, particularly financiers on the movement of gold between United States and Europe who have not been able to attend so far, are to be examined as work on the amendments proceeds.

The members of the committee agreed that the framing of amendments must be done with the greatest deliberation and each one will be submitted to an expert qualified to judge of its effects.

Charles A. Conant of New York is one of those whose opinion will be asked.

H. Parker Willis who advised the house committee in the preparation of the bill was requested to appear on Friday.

Today the committee heard four witnesses discuss the bill. Alexander Gilbert of New York, president of the Fulton Market National Bank, who took the stand yesterday, concluded his testimony and warned the committee against haste.

Propose Entirely New Scheme.

Taylor Vinson of Huntington, W. Va., proposed an entirely new banking and currency scheme. He suggested the formation of a "treasury bank" through which the government itself should issue currency and extend redemptions to national banks. He recommended that the collectors of internal revenue be made branch offices of this bank to pass on credits, pointing out that they would have at their disposal all credit information the returns under the income tax law.

F. J. Syme of New York briefly endorsed the general principles of the bill.

R. H. Long of Massachusetts told the committee of being refused credit by various New England banks when he endeavored to combat the United Shoe Machinery Company. Senator Weeks, who said he was director of one of the banks in question, declared that the transaction was a usual one, and that Mr. Long was refused a loan simply because of his credit condition.

The effect of the new law on all banks in Hawaii was called to the committee's attention by L. T. Peck, cashier of the First National Bank of Hawaii. He said the bill not only did not admit the insular banks into the new scheme, but that it prejudiced privileges they now enjoyed under the law. He asked that the Hawaiian banks be allowed to retain their charters under present conditions.

President Takes Dry Land Cruise

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Wilson and Secretary Daniels took a dry land "cruise" tonight when they visited the District of Columbia naval militia battalion at a rehearsal of the deck of a battleship. The occasion was the review of the battalion by the commander in chief of the fighting force of the United States and the head of naval establishments.

When the president appeared he was "gipped" over the side and ceremoniously escorted to the quarter deck to greet the senior officers. The battalion then passed in review and later went through the drill manual. President Wilson did not speak, but Secretary Daniels complimented the battalion upon its appearance, saying that the naval reserve of the country at the first alarm of war always has been ready to preserve the traditions of the American navy.

SAN IGNACIO CAPTURED.

Important Sinaloa Town Taken by Constitutionalists.

Hermosillo, Oct. 22.—San Ignacio, an important town of the state of Sinaloa, has been captured by constitutionalists according to a telegram today to General Venustiano Carranza. Col. De La Vega, the federal commander, and the mayor of the town were executed.

General Alvaro Obregon is marching southward tonight with a strong force of infantry and artillery to attack Culiacan, capital of Sinaloa. Obregon is said to have 4000 men. If successful at Culiacan he will assault Mazatlan, an important seaport.

Roberto V. Pesqueira, former diplomatic agent of the revolutionists at Washington, was sent back to the American capital by Carranza today. The rebel chief seemingly is confident of recognition by President Wilson if he can show a bona fide governmental organization and is rapidly proceeding with the formation of his cabinet. All but two of his ministers have been chosen.

Provisional governments for all the revolutionary states are also being established, the latest organized being that of the state of Zacatecas, with Mayor L. J. Zallo as governor.

Official reports received today confirm the execution of the federal general Alvarez and staff by Pancho Villa at Loma subsequent to the fall of Torreon.

Suea Garland for Debt.

Dallas, Oct. 22.—H. W. Jones filed suit for a receiver Wednesday morning against the City of Garland, Dallas county, alleging that the city owes him a bill of $1225. A receiver will be appointed Thursday. Garland recently voted to abolish the old corporation in order to be incorporated under the law governing towns of more than one thousand population.

Negro Boy Killed.

Dallas, Oct. 22.—Charlie Brown, negro, was shot through the head late Tuesday and died at the operating table of the emergency hospital. The bullet passed through the brain, and dropped into the boy's mouth. He was 11 years old. No arrests were made. The killing may have been an accident.

RAIN CUTS INTO ATTENDANCE

Dallas Fair Visitors Number Well Into Thousands, but Short of Proceeding Days.

Dallas, Oct. 22.—Wednesday's attendance at the Texas State Fair was greatly interfered with by heavy rains which began falling in the early afternoon and continued until late. The attendance, however, went well into the thousands. It was Farmers' Day, Automobile Day and Fine Arts Day.

East Dallas and the Panhandle section of the state were especially well represented. Farmers took especial interest in the Automobile displays.

Pharmers spoke of their own cars, as they inspected the great exhibit and talked of buying later models, while the poor newspaper man sought for the fugitive nickel which was to buy him the hamburger of fragrant memory.

"Automobiles are the farmers' friends," said one prosperous looking farmer. "The campaign that automobile dealers and owners have made for good roads have resulted in many a farmer finding easier access to his market and in many a farmer's child, given finding easier access to schools."

There was a change of "that's so" as the speaker finished speaking and stepped down to examine the rear hind leg of one of the rakish looking speed smashers.

Thursday is one of the most significant days of the exposition. It is Poultrymen's Day, Cotton Growers' Day, Dairymen's Day and Equal Suffrage Day. Attractive programs have been prepared for each one of these special features. The poultry exhibit is particularly good this year, as is the exhibit of the dairymen. Equal Suffrage Day will be interesting as being a new feature of the fair and it is unnecessary to speak of the importance of the day.

Probably no day will be more important than this one.

CHARGE GRAFT IN EAST ST. LOUIS

TWENTY-THREE FORMER OFFICIALS OF CITY ARE UNDER INDICTMENT.

STATE'S ATTORNEY SAYS MORE

Is but Forerunner of Others to Be Returned by the Grand Jury.

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—The indictment today of twenty-three former officials of East St. Louis, Ill., on charges growing out of an investigation of alleged municipal irregularities, was characterized by State's Attorney Webb as the forerunner of other indictments to be returned by the grand jury.

Those under indictment tonight include a former mayor, a former city treasurer, two former controllers, two former heads of city departments, twelve former aldermen and the present chief of detectives. All these were a part of the administration of Charles S. Lambert, who retired from the mayoralty last spring, being succeeded by Mayor Chamberlain, who was elected on a reform platform.

Among the allegations supported by evidence introduced before the grand jury were the following:

That East St. Louis was more than $200,000 in debt.

That during the Lambert administration warrants were issued for large sums for the payment of city officials who had contracts with the city in violation of the law.

Many of the indictments returned against the various ex-officials cover the same offenses but are differently phrased to meet legal points.

Men Indicted.

These indicted and the charges against them follow:

Question—

Nervous? Excitable? Irritable? Exhausted? Backache? Pain? Has living become a burden? Do you know what is wrong? If not, do you want to know what is wrong?

Answer—

Such symptoms, as well as many others equally distressing, are commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of a distinctly feminine character.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

is recommended as a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine. For overworked housewives and business women it is a blessing. It induces calm, refreshing sleep, and banishes mental worry and despondency.

This tonic, in liquid form, was devised over 40 years ago for the womanly system, by R. V. Pierce, M. D., and has benefited many thousand women. Now it can also be obtained in tablet form from dealers in medicine, or send 50 one-cent stamps for trial box.

Every woman ought to possess Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in cloth covers will be sent on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of wrapping and mailing only.

KRASOVSKY TESTIFIES

FORMER CHIEF OF POLICE OF KIEV GIVES TESTIMONY IN MURDER TRIAL.

Another Witness Gives Damaging Testimony Against Vera Tcheberiak and Her "Gang."

Kiev, Oct. 22.—The former chief of police of Kiev, Krassovsky, gave important testimony today at the trial of Mendel Beilis, charged with the murder of the Christian boy, Andrew Yushinsky, in March, 1911. He had investigated the crime and declared on the stand that he had found nothing to implicate Beilis. He repudiated the suggestion that he had made no investigation to find evidence against Beilis.

Disguised as a workman, the police inspector said he had mingled with the employees at the brick works and listened to their talk. He learned that the general opinion among them was the crime had been committed by thieves who feared that the boy might make damaging disclosures.

The witness said Beilis had been arrested by the secret police, the head of which body at Kiev at that time was Colonel Kullabko, whose name was notorious in connection with the assassination of Premier Stypin. He declared that Kullabko told him there was no need to make a domiciliary visit to Vera Tcheberiak's house. This testimony was taken as bearing out the report that the Tcheberiak woman had been shielded by the secret police.

Attempt to Discredit Krassovsky.

That great importance attached to Krassovsky's evidence was indicated by the efforts of counsel representing the anti-semitic organizations to discredit his reputation.

While Krassovsky was testifying the police visited his home and interrogated his sick wife, seeking information as to his means and his mode of living. Krassovsky applied to the court for protection.

Catherine Diakonoff, under examination most of the afternoon and evening, told an extraordinary story which could not be broken by cross-examination. She described visits to evening parties given by Vera Tcheberiak in the winter of 1910-11, where she met members of Vera's gang. She was there on the afternoon of the murder, March 25, 1911.

Two nights later, said the witness, while sleeping on the floor near a bed at Vera's, her feet touched a sack at the bottom of the bed containing an object resembling a corpse. She was frightened and woke Vera, who said, "Don't worry, it is only rags."

She described subsequent adventures with a mysterious masked man who asked her to take part in the murder of Krassovsky, Fensko and Colonel Ivanoff, officials who were trying to solve the mystery of Yushinsky's fate and who were a "nuisance to everybody."

On promising to help she said he described the murder of Yushinsky in Vera Tcheberiak's flat by Vera's gang.

Under cross-examination the witness said the masked man's voice did not resemble Krassovsky's. She declared she was ignorant of Vera Tcheberiak's relations with the criminal world, but knew that she ill-treated her children, who feared her.

In conclusion the witness identified part of a pillow case found near the cave as belonging to Vera Tcheberiak.

Henry Spencer, Chicago Murderer, Showing Scene of Crime

Henry Spencer, who has told the Chicago police of many murders he committed, was taken by them in an automobile to the various spots where he said he had killed his victims during the last few years. This photograph shows him pointing out one of these spots to detectives. If all Spencer's confessions turn out to be true, it will be shown that he is one of the most remarkable murderers the country has known.

EYTONIC LENSES ARE LIGHT FILTERING

They Separate the Injurious Waves From the Healthful Rays—Gives Rest and Comfort to Tired Eyes.
Dr. W. B. Georgia & Co. Give Prizes to Those Who Write Advertisements About These New Lenses.

Here is our advertising contest that we are putting on this year previous to the opening of the Cotton Palace. We are going to introduce and demonstrate to the visitors of this exposition a newly invented eyeglass lens, which is far superior to anything yet offered to persons suffering with eye errors. This lens, which has been given the name of "Eytone Lens," is said to be the most perfect glass that was ever invented and as near to optical perfection as science and skill could make it. It produces eye rest that no other lens can possibly do. For these lenses exclude the ultra violet rays, which produce more eye disturbances and blindness than any other cause.

CHANGE MISSIONARY METHODS

Committee of Catholics Suggest Central Control for More Co-operative Work.

Boston, Oct. 22.—A central committee to control the missionary work of the Catholic Church in the United States is favored by a committee investigating the subject. Bishop Reavis of Boston, who is president of the Catholic Missionary Congress today that the missionary situation in this country had been studied by a committee of three appointed by the board of governors of the church extension society. While their report had not yet been submitted, Bishop Reavis, as one of the members, explained some of the main points.

The committee found, according to the bishop, that many of the missionary organizations overlapped each other. "We concluded," he said, "that it would be better to have a single missionary society operating in the United States making the charter of one of the present societies as a foundation and changing its name to the American board of Catholic missions."

Referring to the work of one of the missionary organizations in collecting over $100,000 every year, in the dioceses of New York and Boston, Bishop Reavis said:

"Imagine how much money could be gotten if we could do this in Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, Brooklyn, New York, Hartford, Detroit, Cleveland, etc., without doubt, within five years the church in America would be giving over $1,000,000 to missions."

The Rev. Dennis J. Dougherty, bishop of Erie, in the Philippines Islands, told the delegates that he believed the cost of living in the islands was about as high as it is in Boston, Philadelphia or Chicago. The wages of the people, he said, were from 14

IN THE HIGHER COURTS

SUPREME COURT MAKES GOOD START—REFUSES TWENTY-SIX APPLICATIONS.

All Cases Disposed of Are of Minor Importance, Involving Cases of Injury.

Austin, Oct. 22.—In refusing twenty-six applications, the supreme court made a good step today towards clearing up a number of cases that have been pending for some time, and in clearing up the docket. At today's session of the court not a single opinion was rendered, and the judges were on the bench for only a few minutes.

All of the cases disposed of were for the most part of minor importance and involved small sums for damages resulting from injuries, etc. Five applications were granted, together with one agreed motion to dismiss.

Rev. I. S. Q. Cooper's Case Affirmed. A plea of insanity and the fact that the church of which he was a member did not recognize the legality of his first marriage, as the woman was a member of a different church and a divorce at that time he married her, did not keep the court of criminal appeals from affirming county today.

Cooper was married twice by his own evidence and found guilty and given a three-year penalty on the charge of bigamy. He was a minister of the Gospel.

Affirmation in two cases of life imprisonment was handed down. These were in the cases of Jesus Valdez, from Prio county and Simon Ramos from Harlin county.

RHEUMATIC PAINS PROMPTLY DISAPPEAR

Relief Comes After Taking Few Doses of Croxone.

It is needless to suffer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can avoid it.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and the only way to overcome it is to remove the cause.

Croxone does this because it neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous substance and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism; and cleans out and strengthens the stopped up, inactive kidneys, so they can filter the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is a truly remarkable medicine for rheumatism, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. You will find it differs from other remedies. There is nothing else just like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it without results. Relief follows the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle and all druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is often all that is ever needed to overcome the worst backache or urinary disorders.

AUTOMOBILE HEARSE, SAN FRANCISCO TO NEW YORK

After being transported more than three thousand miles, from San Francisco to New York, in an automobile hearse, the body of Michael Moran, formerly a resident of New York, was laid at rest in Woodlawn Cemetery, thus fulfilling a promise made to the deceased more than a year and a half ago.

In telling of how he came to bring the body across the Continent, Mr. Peck said he met Mr. Moran in San Francisco and they became friends. When Mr. Moran became ill he asked Mr. Peck to have his body taken to New York by automobile. Mr. Peck promised, but had forgotten the incident until Mr. Moran's will was read. It directed that Mr. Peck be paid $5,000 to cover the expenses. Mr. B. F. Mayor and Mr. H. H. Hambley accompanied the body.

The mine is so nearly perfect in its construction that it is inconceivable that there would be any great loss of life.

"The mine is one of the model ones of the country," declared Cleveland H. Dodge, vice president of the company. "It was as safe as engineering could make it. None of the tunnels is more than fifty feet deep—that was the depth of the one where the explosion occurred. I believe—and they are all so full of exits and ventilating shafts, equipped with electric fans, that we have regarded it as practically impossible for the deadly coal gas to accumulate. Unless men were killed in the explosion itself it is inconceivable that there has been a heavy death toll. "The mine has been operated fifteen years without an explosion before today and has a most complete system of rescue work through a corps of first aid workers, trained to enter the tunnels with oxygen supplies in emergencies of this kind."

James Douglas, president of the company, was at Douglas, Ariz., today, according to Mr. Dodge, who said Mr. Douglas probably would arrive in Dawson tomorrow.

Rescue Train to Dawson. Trinidad, Col., Oct. 22.—A special rescue train, carrying scores of experienced miners, equipped with rescue apparatus, left here tonight for Dawson, N. M., shortly after news of the explosion was received. Dawson is more than 125 miles from Trinidad over branch line railroads and it will be several hours before the special train reaches the scene.

Two automobiles loaded with five oxygen tanks and other apparatus were also sent to Dawson, approximately ninety miles distant, over mountain roads.

Few Bodies Recovered. Raton, N. M., Oct. 22.—The explosion at Dawson is said to have occurred deep in the mine, and though 100 feet of progress tonight has been made by the rescuers in their fight against the debris, only a few bodies are said to have been recovered. It is believed that blockades exist for hundreds of feet further into the mine.

According to reports here, it is said that little hope is entertained for the rescue of the entombed men alive. Dawson has about 1,500 inhabitants and it is situated near the northern line of New Mexico. Coal mining is its chief industry.

1887 Surveys Not Binding. Austin, Oct. 22.—Resurveys made by the surveyors in the employ of the state under an act of 1887 were determined by the court of civil appeals today not to be binding and conclusive and the original surveys held. This was the decision in the case of State of Texas vs. C. W. Post. Formerly the court had affirmed the judgment against the state, but on rehearing the judgment was rendered for the state. New boundary lines will be determined upon the evidence submitted and a survey made disregarding the survey of 1887. Chief Justice Key did not participate in the reversal proceedings of the case.

STATE'S WITNESS MINOR, HE SAYS

HENCE, M'GOWAN CONTESTS THE COURT'S RIGHT TO REVOKE LICENSE.

HOLDS EVIDENCE WAS INVALID

Counsel Demands New Trial on the Ground That Boy's Testimony, Un-supported, Inefficient in Law.

Setting out that the evidence upon which his liquor license was revoked rested solely upon the unsupported testimony of a legal minor, J. F. McGowan, through his attorneys, yesterday filed a motion for a new trial in county court.

The malt liquor license under which McGowan conducted a saloon at Harrison was revoked by order of the court Monday. The allegation on which the license was voided was that McGowan had sold liquor to minors. The state placed one of these minors upon the stand. He swore that he had purchased liquor from McGowan.

Insufficient in Law, He Holds. The defense now claims that this evidence was unsupported, and that, being unsupported evidence, it was not sufficient cause for revocation of license. The case is the first to be tried in local courts in some time of that nature in which motion for a new trial has been filed, when license was revoked.

McGowan operated the only saloon at Harrison and with the elimination of his place of business that community is among the dry column. Judge George N. Denton will probably not hear argument on the motion until the November term of court.

Held on Theft Charge.

Charged with theft, Rosa Williams, negro woman, was arrested yesterday by Constable Leslie Stegall and Deputy Phil Hobbs. It is alleged that she stole two skirts, the property of a neighbor. The arrest was made on River street, and the officers claim she was wearing one of the missing skirts and the other lay upon a nearby bed when the officers arrived.

Fights for His Children.

The contest instituted in the county court by which the county probation officer hopes to obtain possession of the minor children of A. E. Brownlowe, to have come up for hearing yesterday, was postponed and will be heard October 25. Proceedings have been instituted to have the children declared dependent. Brownlowe has employed counsel to contest the proceedings.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be able to do their duty and remove the acid from the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders. Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

Albert J. Jewell, Aviator, Who Did Not Return From His Flight Over the Ocean

When Jewell rose into the air at Hempstead, L. I., Monday, Oct. 13, the wind was blowing thirteen miles an hour. He started in the direction of the Belmont Race Park, but was wafted toward the ocean. He was last seen so far as is known flying over Rockaway Inlet at the ocean shore. He was then about four thousand feet high.

There is a chance that Jewell was taken up by some coasting vessel or even a liner. But wireless messages have been sent broadcast in the search and no news of him has been received. Jewell was twenty-seven years old and had been flying less than a year. Six months ago he obtained his license under the name of "Sidney Gordon," because he did not wish to alarm his wife. Later he told his family of his work and took his right name.

Although Jewell had never made a flight of more than an hour he was recognized as very competent, having been a mechanic before he went into aviation.

HO! FOR DALLAS FAIR

WACO AND COTTON PALACE BOOSTERS LEAVE AT 7:45 THIS MORNING.

Y. M. B. L. Hustlers Have Rounded Up an Enthusiastic Crowd for the Excursion.

With colors flying and enthusiasm running high the "booster special," carrying the Waco delegation to the Dallas fair, will be whisked out of the union station and over the International and Great Northern tracks to Dallas at 7:45 o'clock this morning.

The whirlwind campaign for the sale of tickets was renewed yesterday by the committee of Young Men's Business League boosters with gratifying results and final arrangements were made with General Passenger Agent D. J. Price for handling the big crowd expected at the station today.

Traveling Passengers Agent Frank J. Orr, who has been acting as city passenger agent in the absence of J. Clarke Jones, will accompany the special as the representative of the International and Great Northern railroad.

Consideration for "Sleepheads." It was originally arranged to make the departure at 6:45 this morning, but the committee on transportation from the Young Men's Business League decided yesterday to delay the time for leaving one hour. DEATH HITS MULE MISSES DRIVER

I. & G. N. TRAIN CRASHES INTO OTTO YOUNCE'S TEAM AT CROSSING.

MAN'S SHOULDER IS DISLOCATED

Younce Escapes With Painful, but Not Serious Injuries From Wreck of the Vehicle.

Otto Younce, employed by J. A. Pipkins Jr. on the S. M. Smith farm three miles south of Waco, on the Marlin road, was painfully injured at 6:15 o'clock last evening when a wagon in which he was riding was struck by a northbound International and Great Northern passenger train.

His injuries consist of a dislocated shoulder, and minor bruises and cuts, not serious. One of the mules attached to the wagon was killed and that vehicle badly damaged.

Crash at the Crossing. The accident occurred on the crossing when the International and Great Northern crossed the Marlin road. The passenger train was pulling up preparatory to backing into the yards. It was running at a moderate rate of speed. The engine struck the wagon near the front wheels. One of the team of mules was almost instantly killed. Younce was thrown from his seat high into the air and some distance from the tracks. The other mule broke loose from the vehicle and up to a late hour last night had not been caught.

Attending the Injured Man. The train was immediately brought to a standstill and Younce placed in the baggage car. He was brought to the local Cotton Belt passenger station on a stretcher. At the station Patrolman G. M. Mallard summoned the patrol ambulance and Younce was conveyed to the Providence sanitarium. Dr. Pascoe stated that the injuries were not serious and that no internal injuries were evident.

The injured man is a nephew of Lee Younce, groceryman of this city, residing at Fourteenth and Harrison streets. He has been employed by J. A. Pipkins Jr., 701 North Sixteenth street, on the Smith farm for some time. The team and wagon was owned by Mr. Pipkins.

WACO BOY COMMANDS

LIEUT. W. R. MUNROE ASSIGNED TO UNCLE SAM'S NIFTY-EST SUBMARINE.

New "Diving Demon" is the H-3, New in Bellingham Bay for Builder's Test—Soon in Commission.

To Lieutenant W. R. Munroe of the United States navy, Waco boy and son of Judge and Mrs. Richard I. Munroe of Twenty-fifth and Ethel streets, this city, falls the honor of command of the largest and the latest designed submarine boat in the nation's fighting squadron.

Information to this effect was contained in a letter to Lieutenant Munroe's parents, and also in a copy of Saturday's issue of The American-Review, a newspaper published at Bellingham, Washington. The new boat is known as the H-3. It has just recently been built in Seattle and has just arrived at Bellingham Bay, Washington, for the official builders' test. This test is to be given on the Point Francis submarine course in the bay opposite Bellingham. All submarines built in Seattle for the navy undergo tests at this point.

Expert Submarine Navigator. In regard to Lieutenant Munroe's connection with the latest word in submarine craft, the American-Review has this to say: "Accompanying Captain S. B. Smith in this first test of the H-3, and just as interested in the trial to be undertaken, is Lieutenant W. R. Munroe of the United States navy, who will take command of the new submarine after it is tested and turned over to the navy department. Lieutenant Munroe will assume charge of the new boat by virtue of winning the recent contest for submarine craft, in which he demonstrated to the government his ability in underwater navigation."

With reference to the new boat that paper, terming it as the latest word in submarine craft, says: "The H-3 is the latest submarine to be built for the government and with the addition of numerous improvements and new inventions in its machinery and mechanics, it will rank as the best submarine in the government service. It is 150 feet in length and will be operated by means of electric batteries and a two-cycle Diesel engine, the latter furnishing motive power under the surface and the engine propelling the craft on the surface of the water. The Diesel engine is regarded as the latest type of motive power for boats of all kinds. Its essential characteristic is that it consumes heavy oil, that is, crude oil which has been strained. The usual engine employed is the gasoline engine and it is asserted that the new invention will greatly reduce the expense of operation inasmuch as crude oil is much cheaper than gasoline. It is also declared that the Diesel engine is much more serviceable inasmuch as there is no explosion, but the motor is driven by means of a sort of a slow-burning fire in the piston chamber."

Waco Graduated in 1908. "Lieutenant Munroe came up with the H-3 merely as an interested spectator to witness the trial and he will not take active part. He will be in charge at the government trial shortly, when the entire staff of naval officers will be present from Bremerton."

W. R. Munroe graduated from the United States naval academy at Annapolis in 1908. He immediately went into the service. He has evidenced a great interest in submarine craft and his proficiency along that line won for him command of the latest and largest submarine in Uncle Sam's navy.

ately to the residence of his mother-in-law.

He said in reply to inquiries that he would not withdraw from the presidential candidacy, even though he were competing against the Huerta ticket. An agent of the Mexican government called on General Diaz while he still was on board the Corcovado and tried to persuade him to continue his voyage to Tampico, but Diaz refused to do so.

General Felix Diaz, in defiance of the intimation from the government that he proceed to Tampico and there disembark, decided to remain at Vera Cruz, at least temporarily. He is unwilling to admit he is not free to come and go and talks of a trip to the capital tomorrow or Friday.

According to reports current here tonight he is likely to return to Havana aboard a Mexican warship, and unless he will be left no choice.

General Diaz has been notified on the seas of the government's wishes, but the captain of the gunboat Zaragosa, who put to sea in the middle of the night with Col. Viaduranza, secretary to the minister of war, to whom the mission had been entrusted, lost his course.

A new captain for the Zaragosa was named today. When the Corcovado arrived a government representative attempted to induce General Diaz to continue his voyage to Tampico. From the moment of his landing at 11 o'clock this morning he has professed his intention of continuing the political fight, although close followers have suggested this would be futile in view of Huerta's blanket ticket.

In a speech from the balcony of a hotel to a few hundred workmen gathered to greet him, despite police orders against a demonstration, Gen. Diaz asserted his purpose of continuing the campaign, but members of the campaign who had come here to welcome him are convinced he would not be permitted to finish the presidential contest.

While there was no disorder here today, twelve arrests were made in connection with Diaz's coming. Four of the prisoners are army officers. They are held in barracks, subject to instructions from Mexico City. The officers were members of the committee named as a special embassy to Japan, of which General Diaz some months ago was the head. The officers were instructed to remain at Havana, but allege that a shortage of funds forced them to disobey the order. For this they were arrested.

TIGERS DEFEAT BAYLOR 50 TO 0

LOUISIANA HUSKIES SCATTER BAPTIST LINE TO FOUR WINDS.

LOCALS GOAL IN NO DANGER

Baton Rouge Eleven Outplays Waco Team in Every Department—Forward Pass Used Often.

Baton Rouge, La., Oct. 22.—By a score of 50 to 0 the Louisiana State University team romped over the Baylor team of Texas to victory this afternoon. At no time was the Louisiana team in danger after the first few minutes of play, Baylor playing a defensive game. The Tigers scattered the Baylor line with every attack and bewildered the Texans with quick shift plays for gains around the ends and through center.

L. Dupont of Louisiana was this individual star of the game. He covered himself with glory by repeatedly hurling himself through the Baylor line for long gains making five of the seven touchdowns.

The Tigers showed great improvement in the forward pass and used it frequently. Baylor attempted it only a few times and with disastrous results as a usual thing. The visitors had a husky team, weighing as much as Louisiana, but they were outplayed in every point of the game. Reid, Louisiana fullback, was injured in the second quarter, being replaced by J. Dupont. Baylor made numerous substitutions.

Is Reported That Baker May Quit Playing Baseball

Philadelphia, Oct. 22.—Baseball fans of this city were startled this afternoon when a report became current that John Franklin Baker, third baseman of the Athletics baseball team, the world's champions, might quit the game to enter in a business career. It was said that while Baker has not yet decided on his future plans, he is seriously considering such a step.

Connie Mack said he had heard nothing from Baker regarding the matter. "I am inclined to believe," said Mack, "that Baker will be seen with the Athletics next season. If he does quit the game, there is nothing for us to do but fill his place."

To Change Border Patrol.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Arrangements have been made to have the second and fifth regiments of cavalry, which for several years have been on duty on the Mexican border, replaced by the tenth and fifteenth regiments. No time has been set for the transfer.

Major General Wood, chief of staff, decided to recommend this change because the second and fifth regiments have had extended foreign and tropical service in Cuba, the Philippines, Hawaii. The fifth, with station at Fort Huachuca, Ariz., will be replaced by the tenth from Ft. Ethan Allen, Vt., while the fifteenth from Ft. Myer, Va., Fort Sheridan, Ill., and Ft. Leavenworth, Kas., will relieve the second at Fort Bliss, Texas.

General Wood desires to give officers, men and horses now on the frontier an opportunity to get into better physical condition and field training. Both of the regiments will be assembled next summer at Winchester, Va., in a cavalry camp of instruction, similar to that which the tenth and fifteenth received last summer.

Markets By Telegraph

Cotton.

New York, Oct. 22.—The cotton market not only recovered yesterday's big loss but made new high records for the season on near months during today's trading. October contracts sold at 14.22 and December at 14.02. Realizing caused reactions of several points late in the day but the close was steady and last prices showed net gains of from 19 to 24 points.

An active and excited buying movement was started by relatively firm Liverpool cables and a flood of crop damage reports from the south, following the cold snap reported yesterday. First prices were from 12 to 15 points higher, and after some little irregularity as a result of renewed realizing, the market again firmed up on prospects that another cold wave would follow rains in the south, fresh buying for long account, covering of shorts and continued bull support. After showing a net gain of some 25 to 30 points, business slackened, but prices reacted only a few points and the market reached the highest point still later in the day on a rash of buying orders from local and southern sources. Active months sold 33 to 35 points net higher and December contracts sold above 14 cents for the first time this season, indicating an advance of about $15 a bale from the low level of last summer. Reports of heavy rains in the southwest helped this advance, and some buying may also have been inspired by a crop estimate of 13,000,000 bales excluding linters by a Chicago firm.

The market encountered a great deal of long cotton around 14 cents for December and last prices showed reactions of some 12 or 13 points from the high level. The small local stock, less than 5000 bales of certified cotton being now available here, undoubtedly added to the firmness of the near months.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 22.—The price of cotton made a substantial advance today on buying for long account, which the bulls claimed was of the strongest character. A feature of the session was the absence of any marked amount of profit taking on long cotton, such as put the market down yesterday. There were no new features in the news of the day to stimulate buying, and the rise appeared to be based on the growing conviction that the crop is a moderately small one.

The opening was steady at a rise of 15 to 18 points, in sympathy with a much higher Liverpool market than that day. The weather map was considered unfavorable because of the light rains in the western belt, the frosts in the eastern belt and the promise of more moisture to come. The market very gradually advanced until early in the afternoon prices were 25 to 31 points over the last figures of yesterday.

Later in the day moderate realizing came from the bull side. The close was steady at a net gain of 20 to 24 points.

Spot reports were encouraging during the morning session and private reports quoted prices 4 higher. Bulls manifested considerable disappointment when spots were officially quoted unchanged on this market.

Sales of 12,000 bales on the spot in Liverpool attracted much attention because of private messages from England claiming that consumption among Lancashire mills was on a record basis.

Grain.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—A revival of export demand today strengthened the price of wheat. Accordingly, the market closed steady at an advance of 1/4 to 1/2 net. Other leading staples, too, all showed a gain—corn 1/4 to 1/2 cent; oats 1/4 to 1/2 cent, and provisions 1/2 to 1/4.

Lower prices from Liverpool failed to depress wheat, except right at the opening. Continued falling off in receipts at Minneapolis and Duluth acted as more than an offset.

Primary arrivals dropped to a million bushels less than the total a year ago. This fact helped to prevent the market from showing any tendency to sag and so did statements on high authority that farm reserves November 1 would be only 75,000,000 bushels against 175,000,000 last year.

Although corn dipped in sympathy with a decline at Liverpool, offerings were quickly absorbed and prices advanced sharply. Country reports were to the effect that feeders were paying higher figures than could be obtained from Chicago cash houses.

Big shorts in oats covered freely. Rural offerings were reported light.

Provisions advanced after an early weakness, due to lower prices for hogs which appeared to grow out of the strength in coarse grain.

Stocks.

New York, Oct. 22.—After the favorite stocks had relapsed a point or so from the higher level attained on yesterday's buoyant rise, interest in speculation died out today and the market became dull and flat. The tone improved and part of the early losses were recovered, but in the final hour quotations moved off again.

Bull leaders were not inclined to take an aggressive position in view of the uncertainty of the general situation. Comparatively little significance was attached to the recent upturn, which apparently signified merely that short selling has been evoked. No marked volume of outside buying was attracted by the rise.

Steady pressure against Steel was effective in holding the market in check. Most of the bearish talk of the day centered about the Steel stocks. The Steel trade revived, however, further reduction in working forces and it was announced that one of the steel corporations' subsidiaries had dismissed a large number of employees. Additional price reductions were reported.

Declaration of 21 per cent back dividends on Vulcan. Defining preferred caused a jump of 15 points in the stock. American Tobacco was again strong, its gain in the last two days amounting to 15 points. Petroleum, however, was weak and preferred were weak, falling to new low records.

Bond prices eased off a trifle. Distillers' 5s extended its record rise, moving up 3/4. Total sales, par value, $1,900,000. United States 2s, registered, advanced 1/4 on call.

LOVE'S TRAGEDY

NEILSON'S STORY

HIS LIFE BLIGHTED, THE YOUNG
DANE BECAME A ROVER.

DEATH ENDED HIS WANDERINGS

Romantic History of Youth Who Died Penniless and Friendless Brought to Light by Chief Barron.According to a letter received yesterday at police headquarters in regard to Albert Neilson, the young Dane who was found in a dying condition near the mouth of the Bosque some weeks ago, the young man left home "on advice" of a girl, wandering about America until he was stricken with typhoid, and, too proud to seek relief,
he lay in the bushes along the Brazos until he was past help. It was intimated that Neilson left home because of unrequited love.

Relatives Tell the Story.

The letter was from Neilson's relatives,
in reply to a query from Police Chief Barron, which the chief based on documents found among the young man's effects. The letter received yesterday was from a friend of the family, apparently chosen to indicate the answer because of his knowledge of English. It verified the conclusion of the Waco officers in regard to the identity of the man, and gave data regarding his life, as summarized above.

Chief Read History in Photos.

At the time of the man's death Chief Barron, after inspecting the photographs of Neilson's family, which he found among the papers in an old leather pocketbook under the bolster of the bed which Neilson had occupied, expressed the conviction that the unfortunate youth had seen better days and was of a good family in his native land. The information now at hand bears out the chief's judgment.

Dr. Barton Homeward Bound.

Dr. A. J. Barton, who attended the International Prohibition congress in Milan, Italy, has arrived in New York and his return to Waco is expected before the end of the month. Dr. Barton took advantage of his opportunity while abroad to visit some of the principal universities in European capitals and made a study of the methods employed in these institutions of higher education.

CIRCLE A GINGER ALE

55 DEGREES OF HEAT FOR HEALTH

HIGH TEMPERATURE IN SCHOOL ROOMS SICKENS MANY PUPILS.

DR. FERRELL'S TIMELY WARNING

Artificial Heat at 70 Degrees Makes
The Pupil Dull and Heavy and Takes Edge From Wits.Overheating school rooms during the cold months of the year and lack of proper ventilation and sufficient, fresh air are two of the important things which enter into causes of illness and ill health of children of the schools in many cities, according to Dr. J. R.
Ferrell, physician to the Waco public schools.

55 Is Best Temperature.

"The average person believes that a room should be kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees during the winter months," said Dr. Ferrell, "when in fact the temperature which is most healthful in a building where any considerable number of students or other persons assemble is about 55. This temperature, I believe, if maintained in school rooms during the winter, would be conducive to the better health of students and would also be an assistance to mentality."

Too Much Heat Enervating.

"Artificial heat at 70 degrees causes
the pupil to become heavy and dull, lessens away from him that astuteness and quickness of mind that is less temperature gives. All of us have noted, if we are observant, that if we sit for any length of time in an overheated room where the heat is supplied artificially, that we become placid and dull and tired. That is one great argument for less heat in the school room and for fresh air."

Proved by Experiments.

Dr. Ferrell bases the latter part of this statement on experiments that have been made in various cities over the country. In Chicago, for instance, an open-air school was maintained during the winter. It was situated on top of one of the large school buildings. The students were seated outdoors when fresh air was plentiful.

More Fresh Air Needed.

Dr. Ferrell does not anticipate nor suggest any such experiment in the Waco schools. But he does, by reason of his relation to the schools in an official capacity, urge that more fresh air and less artificial heat permeate
the school rooms during the winter months. This suggestion is in line with his announcement some days ago that school children should come to school warmly clad. "Of course the students who sat in the open-air school at Chicago when the thermometer registered below zero were warmly clad," said Dr. Ferrell. "They wore heavy fleece-lined boots and were protected in every way from the cold. However, they breathed the cold, fresh air. That is what I want to urge upon the Waco school children, and especially those of young womanhood. At that age there is a tendency to array themselves in flimsy, thin material, an affect at low-cut shoes and waists.
These are all well in their way, but they are not the proper array for school rooms of cold weather."

Suggestion as to Clothing.

Dr. Ferrell urges that pupils come to the school room clad in such manner that they will be comfortable at a temperature of 55 degrees in the room.
He also suggests to teachers and instructors to study a series of books entitled "Health and Medical Instruction of School Children." These books, he says, can be obtained at the public library. They contain an exhaustive amount of information about the care of the student, its health and general sanitation of the school building.

Ban on the Unvaccinated.

The time limit wherein all students that had not been successfully vaccinated or that had not had smallpox must be vaccinated has elapsed and all who do not come within that class are returned home until they are properly vaccinated.

Arrangements are being made by the medical department of the board to fumigate all school buildings during the Christmas holidays, and the necessary liquid for that purpose will be purchased soon.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY KILLED IN STREET

LITTLE AL POWERS RIDES FROM SCHOOL TO DEATH IN FARM
WAGON.

SKULL CRUSHED UNDER WHEEL

Fatal Accident Occurs in Front of His Grandfather's Home—Father Met
Violent Death in 1906.Albert Powers, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Albert Powers, of this city, while climbing down from a heavily loaded wagon on which he was riding home from school yesterday afternoon, fell beneath a wheel and was crushed
to death.The accident occurred on North Fifth street, near the intersection of Vermont. With several boys of his own age, Albert had swung upon the sides of a wagon, driven by A. N.
Woodward of Bosqueville, laden to the tops of the high sideboards with cotton seed.

Lost His Footing and Fell.

When they reached the home of Albert's grandfather, Tom Waite, with whom Mrs. Powers and her son live, the boy was seen to step down upon the brake. He lost his footing, fell beneath the wagon, and in a moment
the wheel had passed over his body, breaching his bones and crushing his skull.

Woodward Did Not See the Accident.

but felt the wheel
passed over the boy's body. As soon as he looked back and saw what had happened, he stopped his team, jumped to the ground, and with the assistance of others who quickly gathered, carried the dying boy into the yard of his home. The boy, however, was unconscious from the moment the wheel struck him, and died in ten minutes.

Past Medical Aid.

Drs. R. S. Wood and Doyle Eastland, who reached the scene a few moments
after the occurrence, did what was possible under the circumstances in the way of medical relief, but there was no chance of saving the boy's life.

Mrs. Powers Was Not at Home at the time, and her son was dead before she reached him. Albert Powers, Sr., has been dead for seven years, having been shot down on the streets of this city in 1906.

The funeral will occur at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of T. B. Waite, 1225 North Fifth street, with interment at Oakwood. Pallbearers are Joe Herbellin, Aubrey Deaton, Sidney Dumas, Hubert Turner,

Guy Oliver, Reese Copeland.

C. J. GLOVER BORNE TO TOMB

Last Sad Rites Over Body of Prominent Citizen Witnessed by Concourse of Sorrowing Friends.

A host of sorrowing friends followed the body of the late Chauncey J.
Glover, Sr., to Oakwood cemetery yesterday, paying the final tribute of affection and esteem, while all that remained mortal of the popular newspaper manager and citizen was lowered to its last resting place.

The obsequies, which were solemnly beautiful and impressive, were conducted at the Glover residence, 1219

Washington street, at 10 a. m., by Rev. C. T. Caldwell, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev.
C. W. Peyton of Temple.

The reading of the Presbyterian funeral ritual by Dr. Caldwell was followed by an affecting discourse by Mr.

Peyton, who spoke feelingly of the qualities of Mr. Glover as a Christian, a gentleman and a man devoted to the people and the interests of the community in which he was for so many years a prominent figure.
He made touching allusions to the fidelity
of the deceased to his duties in life,
as husband, father and neighbor, referring likewise to the excellent social qualities that endeared him to all who enjoyed the privilege of his acquaintance, his characteristic generosity and the high regard for integrity manifested by the services at the
